Tension Mounting In Europe Over Submarine Forays

Much Anger in Russia, But Italy May Attend Conference

Britain Insists On New Safeguards

ROME (AP)—Italy, accused by Soviet Russia of Mediterranean piracy, may attend a conference on the question in Switzerland Friday rather than "satisfy" Russia by staying away.

Political and diplomatic sources said tonight this course might be followed because Fascists believe the Soviet accusation and protest—angrily rejected by Rome on Sunday—was a manoeuvre to get Italy into strained relations with Great Britain, France and other powers which are to be represented.

The Fascists believe Russia would like to see Italy stay away from Nyon so the conference could be made a tribunal of anti-Italian accusation.

Italian acceptance of the Anglo-French invitation to the conference, however, might be made conditional on limitation of the discussions to Mediterranean powers. That would exclude Russia, which has been invited.

The Fascist press breathed fire this afternoon, but did not exclude the possibility of Italy's entrance into the conference.

Reports of a new note from Moscow were denied.

The Soviet note accusing Italian submarines of sinking two Russian ships was handed Sunday to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano by the Russian charge d'affaires in Rome.

Italian newspapers soon blazed with attacks accusing Russia of "torpedoing" not only the "anti-piracy" conference, scheduled for Friday, but also European peace.

RUSSIAN WARNINGS

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet press outlets warned bluntly today Italian "Fascist aggressors" have begun a game in the Mediterranean "which may have terrible consequences."

Russia, which has protested directly to Italy against the sinking of Soviet freighters by "Italian" submarines, was represented, however, as viewing these "aggressors" with "cool contempt."

It is awaiting action from an "anti-piracy" conference of Mediterranean powers in Switzerland. (Turn to Page 14, Col. 4)

New High School Curriculum Goes Into Effect in Grade 10 Today

On horseback in the Peace River, by rowboat on the West Coast, by foot and bicycle, and by up-to-date buses in the larger urban centres, British Columbia's school children went back to school today. They had their last fling of the nine weeks' summer holiday over the Labor Day weekend.

From the little red one-room school house of the Cariboo to the highly modern three and four-story schools of Victoria and Vancouver, the province's 117,000 school-age youngsters said "Good morning" to their 4,000-odd teachers and settled down to another year of learning.

To pupils of Grade 10 in the Senior High schools the new term came as the biggest adventure. It was in this part of the school system that the new high school curriculum was applied for the first time today. The elementary and junior high schools swung into the new methods of study last year and are pretty well established for the coming term, the education department said today. In grades 11 and 12 of the senior high schools the pupils will continue their courses along the lines they started in grade 10.

Many pupils became acquainted with their teachers for the first time. For besides the promotions which moved the students to higher classes there were the usually goodly number of changes in the teaching staffs involved in transfers, retirements and new appointments.

The higher branches of learning will start later in the month, with Normal schools scheduled to open September 13 and lectures at the University starting September 20.

The use of the new curriculum in senior high schools marked the final phase in the change-over for studies commenced two years ago. The revised courses, intended to pay more attention to factual matters than theoretical, now extend from top to bottom of the public school system. They are still on trial, the education department said, and will be modified from time to time as it is thought necessary.

"Our neutrality difficulties arise largely from the fact that our laws of neutrality were derived from the 18th century, when commerce was by small sailing ships. Modern transport has completely changed. But more important are the changes in methods of doing business."

Woosung Boat Trip Full of Horror For Refugees Here Today

President Jefferson Arrives From Shanghai; Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. Aboard

Back from Orient waters, where she experienced the mad confusion of undeclared war, typhoon and earthquake, the American Mail liner President Jefferson, reached Victoria early this morning and proceeded to Seattle at noon.

Every inch of passenger accommodation was crowded on her voyage across the North Pacific. Many of her passengers were in Shanghai the first day Chinese and Japanese commenced to fight. Even today some of the women aboard the Jefferson had not completely recovered their nerve. One of them broke into alternate hysterical tears and laughter when asked about her experiences in Shanghai.

Ship's officers told how they watched the fighting at Shanghai from the deck of the liner, anchored 15 miles down the Yangtze, at Woosung. Bombs were screaming over the international settlement, and the roar of gunfire went on all night.

Before reaching Shanghai the Jefferson ran into a severe typhoon. The heat was terrific. There were rain and wind and great following seas. Some of the liner's portholes were smashed.

An hour after the Jefferson tied up at Manila with American refugees, a severe earthquake struck the Philippine Islands. The great ship trembled several times from stem to stern and the crew, badly frightened, rushed to the decks. Most of the passengers were ashore, waiting on the pier for customs and immigration clearance.

On the way to Manila from Shanghai two babies were born aboard. They were cared for by the stewardesses and the ship's doctor and were well when they reached Manila.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ABOARD

Most prominent of the Jefferson's passengers were Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., daughter-in-law of former President Theodore Roosevelt. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Britain Says Tokio Reply Inadequate

Stopgap Statement On Wounding of Ambassador Not Satisfactory

LONDON (AP)—Great Britain's dissatisfaction with a Japanese "interim" reply to her protest against the airplane attack on the British ambassador to China resulted today in intimations to Japan that a final reply "should not be long delayed."

It was no secret that an unfavorable impression was created here by Japan's non-committal note, side-stepping the British charge that a Japanese plane machine-gunned Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen while he was motoring from Nanking toward Shanghai.

The cabinet will review the issue tomorrow. The text of the Japanese Foreign Minister's "interim" reply, delivered Sunday, follows: "The Japanese government, on receiving news of the event in question, took a grave view of the incident and hastened to convey expressions of profound sympathy to His Britannic Majesty's Government and to Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen through the ambassador to the Court of St. James and to China, respectively, and, at the same time, they sent urgent instructions to authorities on the spot to investigate the case thoroughly."

Sharp Slump In Stock Markets

NEW YORK (AP)—As large blocks of stock were dumped on New York Stock Exchange today share prices broke down $1 to more than $6 a share. Widespread tension was evident in financial quarters over the possibility of a European war, although many traders held the view that skepticism over the course of all business was a major factor behind the break. Extent of some profit margins has been a worrisome question in the minds of many market observers.

TORONTO (CP)—Leaders of the Toronto stock market crashed down $2 to $9 on nervous selling today, trailing foreign markets.

HITLER SCORES COMMUNISM

Says Germany Stands Firmly With Italy and Japan Against It

NUREMBERG, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Hitler stressed Nazi Germany's solidarity with both Japan and Italy today—against "Communist confusion" in east and west.

His annual proclamation, read to the Nazi Congress here by Adolf Wagner, Bavarian Nazi leader, also made an emphatic reiteration of Germany's demand for return of her war-lost colonies, and called the attitude of other powers toward this demand "incomprehensible."

Both the Japanese and Italian ambassadors were in the crowd of 46,000 which heard Hitler's statement that Germany would stand by both Japan and Italy in a "defensive" fight against Communism. The Chinese ambassador also was present.

It was as if they were hearing the Chancellor's own voice, because Wagner, who read the proclamation, often is called "Hitler's vocal double."

Hitler listened to his own keynote speech from a platform seat. Several hundred party bluebirds flanked him.

BOUND TOGETHER

Italy and Japan and Germany are bound together in a community of interest, he said, for all three are committed to "a defence of world civilization against attacks which break out today in Spain, tomorrow in the Orient, perhaps the day after tomorrow, somewhere else."

He added: "The natural community of interests between National Socialist Germany and Fascist Italy has in recent months shown itself more and more an element in defence of Europe against chaotic instability."

"Our (anti-Communist) agreement with Japan serves the same fundamental mission—to stand together in defence of world civilization."

Hitler admitted frankly that Germany's chief worry was her food supply.

Islands Near Hongkong Seized

Japanese Make Seaplane Bases; Company Officers Tortured

HONGKONG (AP)—Reliable British sources reported today that Japanese destroyers had seized nearby Pratt Shoals and Lintin Island, on the western fringe of the waters surrounding this British stronghold.

These sources said the islands were being converted into seaplane bases and great quantities of gasoline and other war supplies were being landed. The Japanese destroyers also left a garrison of marines at Pratt Shoals. Anti-aircraft guns were emplaced and machine gun nests hurriedly built.

Japanese officers were said to have taken formal possession in the name of Japan, while a landing party systematically wrecked the wireless station and observatory. The Chinese staff of the lighthouse were detained as prisoners of war, although civilian employees of the Sea Products Company were released.

TORTURES REPORTED

Officials of the company told of being tortured by Japanese sailors seeking to learn where a non-existent supply of arms had been cached. Officials said Japanese sailors tied knives to their hands and heads, while another sailor stood by with a hammer, threatening to drive the knives home should their questions go unanswered.

Later, they said, they were lined up on the beach and machine guns trained on them to make them disclose the whereabouts of the arms depot. The officials said 20 Japanese corpses, presumably victims of war, were landed on Pratt Shoals Island and cremated.

GOVERNOR ON VACATION

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Sir Philip Street, Lieutenant-Governor of South Wales, Australia, arrived on the liner Monterey for a six-weeks' vacation in the Pacific northwest with Lady Katherine and their son, Mr. Justice Kenneth W. Street of the New Zealand Supreme Court.

Twelve miles to the north, he said, the Chinese had recaptured much of the lost ground around Woosung and Paoshan and were threatening the Japanese forces within Paoshan's ancient walls. Other reports from Chinese sources said Paoshan had fallen. (Turn to Page 14, Col. 4)

Business Heads Debate Problems At Big Meeting

Convention of Canadian Chamber of Commerce Opens in Vancouver

Vancouver (CP)—Hon. R. C. Matthews, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, today told delegates to the 11th annual convention here that one prerequisite to advancement of Canada as a nation was reform of its educational system so young people might be given a broader sense of duty to the state.

Mr. Matthews delivered his address at the opening session of the convention, which will continue until Friday. Delegates from every province in Canada, who arrived by special train

SHANGHAI (AP)—The Japanese army early Wednesday seized the huge United States Seventh Day Adventist mission property in the Yangtzeppoo district, north of Shanghai, for military purposes.

The property was confiscated despite the protests of its owners and the fact the mission flew many United States flags to identify it as American property.

Japanese warships were scattered down the Whangpoo all the way from Shanghai to Woosung, about 10 miles north of the city. They renewed their heavy gun bombardment of Chapel, Kiangwan and other Chinese concentrations in an effort to crack Chinese resistance and pave the way for a Japanese offensive inland.

Roaring flames across all north-western Shanghai before dawn lighted the path of a fierce Japanese effort to batter down Chinese resistance that has brought their Shanghai offensive to a standstill.

Artillery roared in the Yangtzeppoo and North Station districts Tuesday, laying down blankets of shellfire in advance of Japanese sunset attacks on the Chinese lines.

Fires spread across the whole area. The Commercial Press Building, rebuilt after the 1932 Sino-Japanese hostilities, was reduced to ashes again after it had been struck by three Japanese bombs.

DIVEN FROM WHARF

The Japanese attack was started after the Chinese suddenly shifted from the defensive to a counter-offensive against the Japanese lines fringing the Yangtze and Whangpoo rivers in the northern fighting areas of the city.

Mayor O. K. Yui of Shanghai said the sudden Chinese thrust had driven the Japanese from the Jukong Wharf district midway between Shanghai and the confluence of the two rivers, splitting the Japanese front.

Twelve miles to the north, he said, the Chinese had recaptured much of the lost ground around Woosung and Paoshan and were threatening the Japanese forces within Paoshan's ancient walls. Other reports from Chinese sources said Paoshan had fallen. (Turn to Page 14, Col. 4)

Sunday night, were in attendance. To accomplish that aim, Mr. Matthews suggested, Canada should set up a central bureau of educational research, similar to those already established in Australia and South Africa.

"The annual survey of education published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is excellent, but it suffers from the constitutional difficulty of a federal bureau without authority in the provincial field," the national president said.

"A Canadian bureau of educational research... would gather information about education in every province, and conduct educational surveys for the provinces. Such a bureau would have to be Dominion-wide, and have national authority, and would act as a clearing house for educational ideas."

Roosevelt, and her son, Quentin. They were in Shanghai the day fighting started.

"No, we were not nervous then," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "We were just interested. It was one of the most amazing sights I ever saw, and horrible, too, of course. I never thought I would see bombing at such close range."

"But I will admit I was afraid the two and a half hours we were on the tender running from Shanghai to Woosung. There were planes roaring overhead and we were really under gunfire all the way. Some of the passengers became hysterical, but fortunately we were able to remain calm, although I was really terribly nervous."

WORSE THAN 1917

The bombardment of Shanghai was more terrifying than the Russian revolution of 1917 for Madame A. Resnikova, Russian-born concert violinist, who is on her way home to New York.

"I am not hysterical and I am not easily afraid—but I would not like to live through that again," she said.

"I was walking to the public library to change a book, and I was half a block from the Palace Hotel when the bomb fell outside of it. The damage to the hotel did not seem to be very great, but the damage to the people was enormous. I believe there were about 3,500 killed altogether, most of them Chinese, but all civilians."

"We had one shell fell on our house. It did not hurt anyone inside, but it killed two rickshaw boys outside the door."

She saw two of her friends—an American and his Russian wife—burned to death in their car after a bomb had burst beside it.

"But on the tender it was worse. The Jefferson was far out, and we were all inside like pieces of baggage—only every one was shouting and screaming," she said.

Madame Resnikova went through the Russian revolution first in Moscow and later in a country town that was held alternately by the whites and the reds.

Like all the other refugees from Shanghai she was allowed to bring only one suitcase with her. All her other possessions were left in Shanghai.

But she managed to bring her violin to safety. "It is my means of livelihood," she explained.

The violinist has friends in Japan, and she found they knew nothing of the Shanghai war.

"The Japanese papers do not know anything—only that they are sending out so many troops and more and more."

BABY REFUGEE

One of the least perturbed of all the Shanghai refugees was seven-months-old Nancy Fello. She sat in her cabin staring with a wide-eyed smile at newspapermen and cameramen this morning, while her mother, Mrs. H. G. Fello, told of the trip on the tender.

"The baby was not at all frightened—but I was slightly," she admitted.

"It was terribly crowded. There were so many people who had fainted that you couldn't even sit down anywhere."

"The sea was too rough, and the tender was not built to go that far out."

Mrs. Fello is the wife of an American aviation technician who has an advisory job with the Chinese government. She is bound for Los Angeles to await the end of the disturbance, when she will return to China.

TRAVELED FROM NANKING
Mrs. L. L. Maguire, school teacher from Long Beach, Calif., and her sister, Mrs. J. A. Tesack, were in Nanking when the war broke out.

"When we left Nanking late in the evening we had been at the station four hours waiting for a train. During that time we saw at least 3,000 soldiers pass by so heavily laden they looked as if they could not hold up."

"There were 216 of us packed into one car on the train and 210 of them Chinese."

"We were sidetracked many times. We got to Shanghai the next night. The bombing had already started. As soon as the train got into the station we were enveloped in a swarm of terrified Chinese. They crawled under the cars and through the windows—anywhere to get under cover. We had a terrible time reaching the French concession. It took us three and a half hours to reach our hotel, about ten block away. Everything was completely disorganized. People were just coming and going all night."

BODIES LIKE CORDWOOD
"I saw bodies piled up like cordwood after the bombing. They lay there several days in case anyone might come along to identify them."

"For three weeks before we left Nanking the Chinese were coming and going. There were thousands coming into the city from the country and other thousands fleeing out of the city. They didn't know where they were going. They carried all they possessed on everything from their shoulders to automobiles. That included rickshaws and wheelbarrows."

Miss Eunice Bowman of Seattle described the arrival of the refugees aboard the Jefferson, the trip to Manila and the earthquake there.

"It was very rough and windy, and it looked as the tender came out as if it was going to turn over any minute. Many of the people on the tender wanted to jump overboard. It was not built for the open sea."

"We had a hectic time all the way to Manila. There were 28 cots in the social hall and three beds rigged up in all the cabins."

Miss Bowman and her cabin mate, Miss Esther Dempsey of Cleveland, O., were on deck when the earthquake happened. "The refugees were just going ashore," she said. "I heard one of them say 'My God, the Japanese are bombing down here.' There was a noise, and I thought for a moment the engines of the boat had started up. The ship moved up and down along the wharf."

HEART-BREAKING SCENES

Mrs. L. Bogdanoff and Mrs. Irwin Lefcourt of New York witnessed the evacuation of Chinese from Chapei into Shanghai.

"It was terrible to see the poor coolies struggling in huge masses along the streets with everything they had in the world wrapped in little bundles," Mrs. Bogdanoff said.

"Believing Shanghai would be absolutely safe from the invaders the poor souls rushed into every available space in the city only to have the invaders pursue them later."

Mrs. Bogdanoff and Mrs. Lefcourt were in the Manila Hotel when the quake came.

"I can tell you I thought it was all over when I saw the floor of the hotel sway and the chandeliers swinging and lights going out. It was too much for many people who had just left shell-struck Woosung to have to put up with," Mrs. Bogdanoff said.

Frank Buckingham, New York lawyer and world traveler, spent considerable time in Manchukuo, and had an opportunity to closely observe preparations there for the conflict.

He spoke of the uncertainty with which Japanese handled their troops in the annexed province and this uncertainty had later been borne out by the demonstration of sympathy towards China which these soldiers had shown.

Political observers in the East saw the present conflict only as a preliminary to the greater struggle which will come between Japan and Russia, Mr. Buckingham said. This war they foresee only as part of the larger conflict which will decide the control of Asia.

Jim Marshall, Far Eastern correspondent for Collier's Magazine, and his wife had an interesting time in the Orient. They could not get into Shanghai, where he was ordered by his publishers.

"We ran all around the Orient, trying to get into Shanghai, just like a dog trying a number of doors to get into a house—without success," Mr. Marshall said.

He was surprised at the apparent lack of interest of the Japanese in the hostilities at Shanghai. Even the naval and military men, he found, were not enthusiastic. They looked upon the affair not as a war but as a punitive expedition only.

"The Japanese people, so far, are not sore with the Chinese people," Mr. Marshall said. "Of course they don't know hundreds of their men have been killed. The newspapers don't tell them that. When they find out things may be different, of course."

Mr. Marshall said he thought the bombing of Canton was a mistake on the part of the Japanese. By so doing they only sent the Cantonese closer to Nanking, instead of dividing the Chinese into two or three factions, as they hoped.

The Marshalls were in Java when fighting commenced. They took a Dutch boat to Manila and from there went by German boat to Japan.

At Kobe they managed to book passage aboard a French boat to Shanghai, only to be awakened the morning of sailing and told the French government had commandeered the ship and they would have to leave.

They had no Japanese visas on their passports and the Japanese government was not particular about having them in Japan, Mr. Marshall said. So they left immediately for the United States aboard the Jefferson.

They will spend six days in Seattle and will sail again next Monday aboard the same ship, determined this time to get into Shanghai—just how they don't know yet.

GROUPS IN FIELD

Mr. Matthews continued:

"There are groups whose doctrines we do not want in Canada, which are trying to educate a large number of our youth to their way of thinking and to enroll them under banners we know to be false. If we do not undertake our part in the direction of character-forming along the right channels, we may find ourselves forced to hand over the administration of our country to a generation whose political and social beliefs are completely unsuitable in a democratic country."

He said the main objective of the convention should be directed to advancing Canada as a nation "into the position in the realms of business and politics to which her natural resources, her situation and her people justly entitle her."

He said Canada needed a high school course which would give the student actual preparation for the business world, instilling loyalty to the state.

"If our Canadian universities could be induced to consider the individual who seeks entrance rather than the examinations he has passed, then we could develop in our schools real preparation for work and life," he said. Secretary W. McL. Clarke, Montreal, in his report, said the last year and a half had seen an acceleration of business and employment greater than at any time since 1929, and "the economic future of Canada is full of promise."

He commented, however, that persistent drought on the prairies had continued the drain of depression years; relief expenditure continued heavy, and the "cumbersome system" of dual and multiple government administration continued to be a problem. One province in particular, he said, had been "unresponsive to the edicts of the federal government, and public finance in several quarters still required a soundness long overdue."

Henry Morgan of Montreal, the chamber's executive chairman, said in his annual report that the organization's programme of interpreting to governments and to the public what business thinks on national economic issues had never been more extensive than in the 18-month period.

He said the chamber also acted as a "watch-dog for political overhead," and its campaign for sound public finance had impressed on the public the desirability of governments living within their income.

"In these circumstances, it is still impossible to determine whether or not responsibility for the incident rests with Japan. Nevertheless, in view of the traditional ties of friendship which bind Japan and Great Britain, the Japanese government express their profound regret that Sir Hughes should have met with such a misfortune incidental to hostilities that actually were in progress in the region of Tait-sang that particular day."

"In this connection, I wish to assure Your Excellency that Japan's forces always take the fullest precautions against causing injuries to non-combatants, and it certainly is very far from the desire of the Japanese government that such an unfortunate event should ever occur in the future through any fault of their own."

"Fresh instructions consequently have been sent to their authorities on the spot to exercise the strictest caution in this regard. I earnestly hope, therefore, that British authorities will on their part kindly co-operate with Japanese authorities with the view of forestalling a recurrence of a similar event by taking such necessary measures as giving notice in advance to Japanese authorities on the spot when entering a zone of danger."

Sir Hughes was wounded August 26.

Great Britain's demands were

TO PROCEED WITH GAMES

TOKIO—After a day of hurried conferences, the Olympic organizing committee Tuesday night decided to proceed with its plans for holding the international games at Tokyo in 1940.

Reports from usually well-informed sources that the government had withdrawn its support from the games because of the China campaign were branded false by Akira Kazami, chief secretary of the cabinet.

The central government, he said, was willing to contribute 4,300,000 yen (about $1,250,000) to the cost of the games.

Threshing Time On Saanich Peninsula

This picture was taken last week on the 70-acre farm of A. H. McPherson on Shelbourne Street, just as he started threshing his crop of peas, flax and oats, grown together. Those in the picture are Elmer Soderquist on top of the hay wagon feeding the thrasher. Standing near the thrasher is Clung McPherson and at the far end of the machine is Mr. McPherson fixing up the bags of feed. At this time of the year scenes such as these can be witnessed on many farms throughout the Saanich Peninsula.

accident ran his machine into a ditch in an attempt to avoid hitting the pair. He and a woman passenger were uninjured.

Identification of the victims took three hours.

BANKERS WILL STATE VIEWS

Aberhart Attacks to Be Answered in Radio Broadcasts

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

VANCOUVER—Quiet for two years under the lash of Premier Aberhart's eloquence, Canadian bankers are about to fight back. Through their association, the banking institutions of Canada will begin almost immediately a campaign of public education in financial affairs.

On a national radio hook-up they propose to answer all the charges hurled against them by the Social Credit government of Alberta and to explain their views on government finance.

Leading Canadian bankers are here today at the convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, but they won't talk about Alberta for publication. They have agreed among themselves to act in this matter only through their association and not to speak as individuals.

It was made clear, however, that the campaign of the Bankers' Association would be comprehensive and designed to show the Canadian people that the scope of private banking under the existing charters of the banks is not nearly so wide as the Alberta government seems to think—in other words, that the banks cannot do half the things Mr. Aberhart seems to expect of them.

Until the federal government had formally disavowed the Alberta banking legislation, the bankers decided to remain silent on it. Now that the legislation has been disavowed they feel under no further obligation to hold their fire. They will seek to show in a series of broadcasts that in preparing this legislation the Alberta government totally misconceived the function of private banking.

The feeling of bankers generally is that the Alberta experiment in Social Credit is now definitely waning and certainly will not spread to other provinces. Alberta, they feel, is going to return to sound financial practice.

TRINIDAD RIOTS ARE INVESTIGATED

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, (CP)—Should the same circumstances that preceded the Trinidad oil fields riots in June arise again, police officials would act exactly as they had done then, a royal commission investigating the disorders was told today by Colonel Mavrogordato, inspector-general of Trinidad's constabulary.

Under the same circumstances he would again order the arrest of Uriah Butler, negro organizer who was blamed for stirring up the native laborers, he said.

When a squad of police went to Fyzabad village in June to arrest Butler, he clashed with the villagers. Before the riot and others that followed were quelled, 14 persons, including two police officers, had been killed and scores injured.

LABOR CHIEFS SPEAK IN U.S.

W. Green and John L. Lewis
Heard in Labor Day Addresses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor Day brought a renewal of the feud today between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

William Green, president of the federation, accused the C.I.O. of "welcoming communistic support and methods," and upbraided it for disrupting the labor movement. He broadcast from Dallas, Texas.

The C.I.O. chief, John L. Lewis, speaking meanwhile in western Pennsylvania, ignored the row with the federation to warn the workers there that unless they have the protection of organization of organization, new machines will rapidly displace them. Labor Secretary Perkins, speaking from Washington, reported that "some 2,000,000 more wage-earners have jobs in regular non-agricultural employment this Labor Day than a year ago, with approximately 1,000,000 of these being employed in factories."

Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin told an Omaha audience there would be a new political alignment by 1940; that a realignment of parties has already begun and will "continue until reactionaries are in one camp and progressives in another."

New Plan For Raw Materials

Full Manufacture at Home
Suggested to Canadian
Chamber of Commerce

VANCOUVER (CP)—F. C. Brown of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, today suggested the Canadian Chamber of Commerce might work with his organization to stop sale of the Dominion's raw materials, such as timber limits and ore deposits, for export in the raw state.

Extending fraternal greetings to delegates to the 11th annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Brown said it was "our duty as Canadians to safeguard these resources for the benefit of our young people."

"In time we shall have more people and more capital at our disposal, thus justifying more industrial development, making possible the fabrication of our raw materials for home and export markets," he said. "Today we have the wholesome spectacle of foreign capital, using foreign labor, assembling Canadian raw materials for export in foreign ships."

Mr. Brown suggested four other "matters of outstanding importance" which might be dealt with jointly by the two national bodies:

1. Immigration to Canada of more people of the right type for land settlement, thus stimulating productivity in commerce and industry.

2. Examination of industrial relations with a view to seeing labor gets a "fair share of the rewards of industry; removal of abuses 'on both sides' to ensure proper balance between cost of production and fair market values of finished products.

3. Assisting agriculture, thereby helping to establish a better balance between the wages of industry and agriculture and its products.

4. Backing recommendations of the National Employment Commission to speed up its "many helpful and constructive recommendations."

Mr. Brown said the present need was to get the two national organizations to function in solving some of Canada's vital problems along national lines.

"There continues a tendency to lay too much stress on provincial needs and rights," he commented. "The needs of Canada as a whole are paramount. If we can get national recovery along sane lines, then provincial problems will be readily solved."

CHICAGO (AP)—At least 428 persons died violently in the United States during the Labor Day week-end.

A survey by the Associated Press showed 302 auto traffic deaths in 44 states. There were 271 during the corresponding period last year.

Fifty-five drownings were reported, and 71 persons died in various other accidents. Airplane crashes caused six deaths. There were 49 deaths in California alone. Thirty-three were attributed to auto accidents.

The death total of 428 was less than half the number expected by the National Safety Council.

Unity Declared Canada's Need

Junior Chamber of Commerce Hears H. Brown in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fifty-odd delegates to the second annual convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada today had before them an appeal from Maj. Harold Brown of Vancouver for national unity.

The junior chamber sessions began Sunday, and will continue through tomorrow in conjunction with the eleventh annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"Don't be afraid of honest patriotism," Maj. Brown advised delegates at a dinner meeting Sunday evening. "It is about time we revived a sincere and honest patriotism and re-created an indestructible spirit of unity in Canada."

President T. W. Warkman, Vancouver, said in his annual report that while interests of the organization must be principally in national problems, it must also participate in international movements of young businessmen.

SIX OFFICIALS ARE EXECUTED

"Purge" in Russia Catches
Men Accused of Squandering
Funds

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet "purge" has caught six officials at Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek republic in the heart of Asia, on charges of squandering the city's funds on wild drinking debauches with girls from a "rest home."

The Communist Party organ, Pravda, Sunday called the Tashkent officials "bourgeois nationalists" and accused them even of slaughtering the municipality's horses to provide meat for their revels. Pravda said the six had been eliminated in a "clean up," but did not specify their fate.

Ten officials in the Ordzhonikidze region of the Caucasus, convicted of anti-Soviet plotting among the peasants, apparently have been executed.

Newspapers failed to mention any appeal being granted.

Lazar Kaganovich, new Commissar for Heavy Industry, shook up the Soviet coal administration in a drastic effort to overcome a serious production shortage, which was blamed for much of the lag in industry generally.

Japanese Boats Seized By Soviet

Five Small Vessels Reported
Held Near Korean
Boundary

TOKIO (AP)—Domei, Japan's national news agency, in a dispatch from Seishin, Korea, reported Sunday the seizure of five small Japanese or Korean fishing boats by Soviet authorities in waters near the Korean-Siberian boundary.

The Fukuyo Maru, 48-ton Japanese boat, was seized after an attack by Soviet vessels and an airplane, Domei said. She was taken into Possiet Bay. Four smaller boats were also taken into the bay, on the Siberian coast.

A little later, The Domei dispatch said, the 50-ton Japanese fishing boat Kaga Maru was attacked and halted by a Soviet vessel. A Russian officer boarded the Japanese ship where hand-to-hand fighting ensued. When the Korean patrol boat Asakaze Maru steamed to the rescue the Russian officer fled to his own vessel. Two of the crew of the Kaga Maru were reported missing.

Three Are Killed In Road Crash

Break-down or Break-up

THE WORLD IS FULL TODAY OF those sorts of Jeremiahs who howl dismally that civilization is on the verge of collapse and Mr. Boothby, a Scottish M.P. in the British House, has mentioned in that august place that he has read a book in which the author lamented that everybody is talking about the possibility of that collapse.

The author, however, says Mr. Boothby, goes on to demonstrate that as a fact it has already collapsed about 20 years ago, and it is not a matter of worrying about whether civilization is going to fold up, but of what to do now that it has folded up.

This kind of fellow is a very great trial to the spirit of such men as are working honestly and unrelentingly for the gradual improvement of that still imperfect system we call civilization.

It may possibly be admitted for the moment that civilization seems to have broken down, but to suggest that it is breaking up is pure defeatism. What we have to do is quite simple, the only trouble is to get us to do it. All we have to do is act honestly, consider and help our fellow man, banish hypocrisy from the world and all selfishness, and civilization will look after itself.

If it has only broken down in spots much can be done to make the new tissues we rebuild a little stronger than the old ones and gradually the whole will approach perfection. But if it has broken up nothing can save it.

Fortunately we do not all see the world as lost. Some have the courage to go on building.

Duty To The State

SPEAKING AT THE OPENING SESSION of the annual convention of the Canadian Chambers of Commerce today at Vancouver, Hon. R. C. Matthews, president, told the delegates that the one prerequisite to the advancement of Canada as a nation must be the reform of its educational system in order that young people may be given a broader sense of duty to the state.

To effect this reform he looked outward through the Empire for inspiration and suggested the establishment of departments for educational research, such as already exist in Australia and South Africa, and an added sense of national responsibility.

There have been several prominent and thoughtful Canadians of late who have deplored the apparent absence of a truly national Canadian feeling and tradition, and by implication this of Mr. Matthews is another straw in the wind—but it is a wind of progress.

It raises the question of what actually constitutes a sense of duty to the state in the young. When states began to be strongly formed and established with sound structure of law and administration the family was the unit and epitome of the state and its head the responsible factor.

Today there is not lacking evidence that the state itself, and largely through its educational facilities, has usurped the position of the family within its own structure, and it seems further that the responsibility of the head of the family toward the young must be still further vitiated by modern advances and changes in the educational system.

It is a pertinent suggestion in this juncture that if the sense of duty to the family could be strengthened in the young a sense of duty to the state would automatically follow.

Examiners

IT WAS CHARLES KINGSLEY IN HIS famous book, "Water Babies," who pictured a field full of crabs turning up with human child-faces who cried because the examiner was coming. That was at the beginning of the compulsory education era. Since that time there have arisen many informed people who have deplored the examination system.

It is therefore to the credit of the government of British Columbia that it is continuing on the course set during the Hinchliffe regime to better public education by doing away with the matriculation examination, thus substituting the intelligence of the teacher for the fears of the student.

Very great care will have to be exercised by the teachers. There will be great temptations based upon imponderable thoughts and natural biases. But the teachers will be proof against those temptations.

One of the fetishes of British educational life has always been the London University matriculation examination. During the long years when London was not a teaching university, only an examining body, that examination was looked upon with an awe that amounted to reverence. It was, in fact, almost equal to a baccalaureate in any other university and merely because of its unpredictable character. A teaching university does not suffer those throes of indecision. It teaches what it is going to examine. And if you teach what you are going to examine what is the use of examination? A high school is the same.

This move should appreciably cut down the expense of educating the uneducable. If the teachers have any sense.

School Again

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS RETURNING TO school today after the long summer vacation make up part of the total of 2,200,000 who resume studies throughout Canada this month. Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press show that two factors have caused a reduction in Canada's school population which is today appreciably lower than it was three years ago. One is the birthrate decline of seven years ago. The other is the swing from depression to recovery. More work, it has been found, lessens school population. In 1929 school attendance was 2,265,000, but three years ago Canada's school population rose to 2,527,000.

The depression is cited as the principal cause of the increase from 1930 to 1934 in the number of high school students. Greater opportunities for young people in economic life have accounted for a gradual decline in this bracket since. In British Columbia total school enrolment is going up, with an increase of nearly 15,000 over 1937; but the increase has been very gradual in late years and confined almost wholly to high schools, with a consistent decline in elementary schools.

Essential For Production

RECURRING ATTACKS UPON THE Canadian National Railways have bred a feeling of resentment on the part of the personnel of the railway, says S. W. Fairweather, director of the C.N.R. bureau of economics, presenting facts to confront those who urge that the Canadian National Railway as a publicly-owned and controlled railway system should cease to exist. Among other things, Mr. Fairweather points out that the C.N.R. property is the largest railway organization on the North American continent, serving directly 90 per cent of the people of Canada, and to one-quarter of them it is the only railway available. It links the Dominion with many of its best markets in the United States and 60 per cent of the coal produced in Canada depends upon the Canadian National for rail transport.

As an instrument in the development of Canada the C.N.R. is an asset of tremendous value. Far from being a terrible drain upon the wealth of the country it has been the main instrumentality by which that wealth has been brought into existence, Mr. Fairweather claims.

While Mr. Fairweather may resent the criticism that has been leveled against the system he may find consolation in the steady increase in traffic that has marked reports of the C.N.R. in the last four years.

Helmets For Sale

NEWS FROM CHINA INCLUDES AN item to the effect that steel helmets are being sold in the "bargain basements" of downtown stores in Shanghai.

Possibly we are not wrong in supposing that before long devices of defence from air raids, gas attacks and bombardments will be as common to everyday life as a jacket for a chilly day or a new spring hat. Already, in Germany, gas masks are on sale as a necessary accessory for every individual.

A shopping tour will be marked by something like this: "Have you those latest reinforced steel helmets with the attached neck protector? And you had better put in a couple of those new gas masks for the baby. She chews the mouthpieces off as fast as I can buy them for her."

It is funny. Or is it?

Notes

China's problem: what good is the good earth if a people cannot keep it.

A movie fan is a person who may not remember the short, but who never forgets a feature.

Chinese high school girls are being trained for the trenches. They probably will be safer there than at home in this war.

That eastern woman who refused to put her age on a marriage license probably thought love might be blind to some figures and not others.

There are new twists every day on this "make friends and influence people" business—like shooting ambassadors and tossing champagne on French mayors.

The extensive telegraph set-up which is bringing this continent the running story of the undeclared Chinese-Japanese war enabled a report of the Manila earthquake to reach Washington before the quake shook waves, traveling through the earth, moved the seismological instruments in our earthquake detecting stations. This is the very rare case that forms the exception to the rule that most earthquakes are first reported by scientists.

THE ITALIANS TAKE SPAIN

From Richmond Times-Dispatch
Further interesting revelations come from Italy concerning the extent of that country's participation in the so-called Spanish civil war. In the nationwide jubilation over the "great Italian victory" won by Franco at Santander, there have been admissions which no longer make it necessary for outsiders to prove that Mussolini is in the Spanish conflict up to his porcine neck. Arnaldo Cortesi, The New York Times veteran Rome correspondent, who is close to the Fascist government and authoritative in his statements with respect to it, has just cabled his paper: "It is now revealed that four Italian divisions, probably aggregating more than 40,000 men, participated in the battle and bore the brunt of the fighting." The next time anybody tells you it isn't true what they say about international Fascism's part in the Spanish war, tell him to read Cortesi's dispatch from Rome, published August 27, 1937, in The New York Times.

PURE DICTATOR

YOU MUST have wondered what a Fascist dictator is really like. Now, at last, we know, and for this information we are indebted to one Rene Benjamin, who writes in the French weekly Candide. Read his description of the Spanish general, Franco, and weep:

"He is not tall; he is a little heavy; his body is timid. Ah! His glance is unforgettable, like that of all rare beings. A troubled and trembling glance, full of sweetness; the man is delicious and mysterious. . . . His forehead is beautiful . . . with feminine sensitiveness and delicate features. In the smile of this warrior one sees a woman's soul and a child's heart. The ravishing thing about Franco is his purity."

The fellow must be just too cute for words.

FRAGMENTS

THE picture magazine Life has lately pictured photography and how it is made. It shows precisely how the professional photographers make those queer, shadowy, upside-down, lop-sided shots that are so perfectly thrilling. Apparently a good photographer would never think of taking a straight-on simple picture of a statesman, or a good-looking woman. He would scorn anything so amateurish. Instead, he flops down on the muddy road, or the wet pavement, and shoots up, or sideways, or around a corner. This makes Art.

Even that process, tantalizing as it was, has been outmoded. Now they are going in for what they call fragments. They take a picture of an entire statesman and then cut off everything but his left ear, or the wart on his nose. This, they say, is more interesting than the entire picture. It is Symbolism. Ears and warts are very Symbolic. Or they take a whole movie star, like Miss Dietrich, and they cut everything but her upper lip, which is enlarged to enormous proportions. An upper lip, it seems, is Symbolic also.

A part of a dynamo, a slice of onion, or a chunk of human anatomy severed from its surroundings—all these are Symbolic of something. Of what I can never find out. I suppose I am a Tory, but a dynamo is just a dynamo to me, an onion an onion, and meat just meat, however they arrange the shadows and highlights, and all I can ever see in Miss Dietrich, no matter what part of her they cut off, is Miss Dietrich.

And sometimes I wonder, when I find the world littered with photographs of dynamos, onions and disemboweled human carcasses; when I find a thousand tourists taking pictures of their girls in front of the Parliament Buildings (straight into the sun so that nearly all of them are ruined and hardly any visitor takes home a real image of our sacred dome); when I have to look at people's snapshots of their children and their stout aunts and puppydogs—then I sometimes wonder if it is all worth while. I sometimes wonder if it is indeed Art. I sometimes wonder what is Symbolizes!

OLD-TIMER

APPARENTLY my astronomy was out a little bit the other day—just a few million light years or so. The astronomers tell me that the super nova which was seen to explode at the edge of the universe this week did not explode a century ago, as I estimated, but at least 100,000 years ago. The light from the explosion took all that time to arrive here.

It is an arresting thought that the explosion, now examined by civilized men's remarkable gadgets, occurred before men had left their caves or their trees. But more arresting still is the fact that some similar explosion probably is occurring out there in space this week and no one will know about it for another 100,000 years. Finally it is arresting to realize that our own particular star, our sun (a third-rate star, but exceedingly useful when you want to grow green peas or go swimming) may explode at any moment, and then we won't have to wait 100,000 years to know about it. We shall all be burned to a crisp in less than a second. And nobody will know what hit us. This may happen at any moment. Or it may not.

HOW TO SLEEP AND WAKE UP

From Toronto Star

In his recent interview with Premier Mackenzie King, Mr. R. E. Knowles referred to W. T. Stead's observation that during the war the future of the Empire probably hung at times on the ability of Lloyd George to sleep. Nowadays the famous ex-Prime Minister has plenty of time for slumber on his farm in Surrey or at his London home in Addison Road. But during the most critical periods of the war his energy was sustained not only by an enthusiastic will but also by an ability to refresh himself with even a few moments' sleep. While living at 10 Downing Street, just a short distance from the Houses of Parliament and the offices of the War Cabinet in Whitehall Gardens, he made it a practice to be driven from one of these places to another and, incredible as it seems, he would snatch a few winks en route. From the cab he would emerge a new man.

Napoleon, Wellington, John Wesley, Sir William Van Horne, Sir Henry Thornton and Thomas Edison are other examples of geniuses who either slept a very few hours in the 24 or who had the gift of snoozing a few minutes and awakening freed from fatigue. There are others, famous and in less public situations, men and women, who hesitate to sleep in the daytime because, they say, they wake up more tired and "dopey" than before.

Women will suffer more than men for the sake of duty. You never hear a man say: "I've got to invite him because he invited me."

Nature provides many safeguards to keep our chins up. Suppose everybody else could hear what our conscience is saying to us.

Japan Blockade Hits Other Shipping More Than Chinese

CHINESE SHIPPING, which is threatened by the recently imposed Japanese blockade, accounts for a relatively small percentage of China's maritime trade, according to statistical material compiled by the Institute of Pacific Relations. Within the last five years, the Chinese share has slightly increased, the exact figures being 25.03 per cent in 1932; 27.12 per cent in 1933; 29.29 per cent in 1934; 29.14 per cent in 1935 and 30.46 per cent in 1936. These figures express the Chinese stake in both foreign and coastwise trade. A separate analysis of the domestic trade, however, reveals that Chinese bottoms carried a slightly larger percentage, namely 36.81 per cent in 1936.

The total tonnage of China's domestic shipping trade amounted to 99.7 million in 1936, which is a small increase as compared to figures for the previous years. British shipping held first place with 41.1 million tons, or 41.28 per cent of the total. China held second place and Japan occupied the third with a tonnage of 15.4 million or 15.53 per cent. Japan has considerably increased her stake in China's domestic shipping. In 1932, the year of the first Shanghai War, it had amounted to 10.4 million tons, or 11.49 per cent of the total. American vessels account for a very small share of the coastwise traffic in China waters the tonnage being 1.9 million in 1932; 1.8 million in 1933; 1.6 million in 1934; 1.0 million in 1935, and 650 thousand in 1936. By now, the American share is less than 1 per cent.

Of far greater importance, especially with regard to the present Far Eastern crisis, is China's foreign shipping. The total tonnage of boats arriving from and leaving for foreign ports has been relatively stable within the last five years, the figures being 44.5 million tons in 1932; 41.0 million tons in 1933; 44.9 million tons in 1934; 48.1 million tons in 1935, and 45.2 million tons in 1936. Here China's share is considerably smaller than in the domestic traffic. It amounted to 4.3 million tons in 1932; 4.5 million tons in 1933; 6.8 million tons in 1934; 7.5 million tons in 1935, and 7.3 million tons in 1936. The percentage of the Chinese ships has risen from 9.47 per cent in 1932 to 16.22 per cent in 1936. Although Chinese vessels are evidently catching up, these figures reveal that the bulk of China's foreign trade is still carried in foreign bottoms.

British shipping throughout the last five years has held first place—the tonnage being 16.1 million or 35.72 per cent of the total in 1936. The tonnage of United States vessels was 3.4 million in 1932; 3.5 million in 1933; 3.7 million in 1934; 3.7 million in 1935, and 3.1 million in 1936. The percentage has decreased from 8.34 per cent in 1934, and 7.72 per cent in 1935, to 6.90 per cent in 1936. Japan has held second place behind the British, with 9.4 million tons in 1936. Her percentage has increased from 19.12 per cent in 1935 to 20.82 per cent in 1936. German shipping amounted to 1.9 million tons or 4.3 per cent in 1936.

During the first six months of 1937, American shipping from and to Chinese ports amounted to 1.1 million tons, covering a percentage of 5.14 of the total shipping to and from foreign countries. The British share was 7.6 million tons or 34.81 per cent; the German 1.1 million tons or 4.90 per cent. Chinese vessels accounted for a tonnage of 4.9 million, thus increasing the Chinese share to 21.90 per cent of the foreign shipping, while Japan's tonnage amounted to 4.8 million or 21.39 per cent. The total tonnage of shipping between China and foreign ports, during this period was 22.4 million tons.

The Japanese blockade of coastal shipping, announced August 25, covers some 800 miles of the China coast, extending from the mouth of the Yangtze River to a point south of Swatow. In this stretch of coast line are seven of China's principal ports including Shanghai. These ports together accounted for 48.4 million tons of shipping in 1936 or 33.4 per cent of China's total shipping. Of the total tonnage entered and cleared in domestic shipping, they accounted for 25.9 million tons, or 26.0 per cent.

A YOUNG BACHELOR PROTESTS

To the Editor:—A short time ago you printed a letter, by a lady, who suggested that all pay cheques be made out to the wife.

Well, now if that isn't the limit! So even among the female-of-the-species, there are a few who divulge their sole purpose of marriage, the poor, unsuspecting, weaker ones of the males.

For the past seven years my work has taken me among women, and I've come to realize that the sensible woman, is so few and far between, that it is not worth the risk.

Sure, we are told that in order to do our bit, we must marry and build a home. But this is only upheld by the jealous males who have been tricked, and the women who want a man to bring breakfast into bed.

Listen, young man, more than likely, as soon as her back is turned to the altar, her hand will be in your pocket, and remain there for the rest of your days.

Next time you see a wedding procession, think of "him" as a weakling.

23-YEAR-OLD BACHELOR.

ESQUIMALT ROAD DANGERS

To the Editor:—In your issue of Aug. 31, I suggested the B.C. Electric install lights at Joffre Street and other corners to enable the conductors to see pedestrians waiting for street cars. I have been informed that the telephone company owns the poles on the south side of Esquimalt Road and lights could not be installed on those poles.

To the suggestion that the B.C.E.R., in whose interest it would be, install a spotlight on their own poles on the north side, which would throw the light on those corners and not confuse traffic, it seems that would interfere with the lighting of the municipality and arouse the ire of the councilors. What the council's objection may be we do not know, unless they wish to discourage visitors to that neighborhood. But that would not carry far in a court of law one of these days if a serious accident occurs due to bad lighting, and may cost considerably more than a few lights.

These suggestions have been made in good faith, with a desire to be constructive, and the man in the street would like to know what about it. If these statements are not correct and nothing can be done, then for heaven's sake let someone in authority clarify the atmosphere and give us the facts.

THE DEAN AND PLATONIC FRIENDSHIPS

To the Editor:—Here is another of the poor, pathetic, amusing old spinners referred to by the Dean, but one who feels none of the curious urges towards motherhood.

How does the Dean account for the many thousands of happily married people deeply in love with each other and yet without children?

While the creative urge undoubtedly plays an important part in falling in love, it is not the chief factor. The whole thing hinges on the fact that somewhere in the world there are two people who were made for each other and, when they meet, they want to give themselves to each other regardless of all other considerations. That is the strongest urge in falling in love. The Dean in his letter says that platonic friendships are permissible if they have no sexual urge in them. Would the Dean tell us what sex is? How can any friendship contain no element of sex, when the sex urge is stronger than any other in any natural human being? Does the Dean not think that the person who incessantly denounces sex lives in the proverbial glass house?

Highway Safety Is In Spotlight

Driving Tests Mentioned By Deputy Works Minister
in Speech

(Special to the Times)

NANAIMO — More than 38,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed by motor vehicles traveling on British Columbia highways last year, an increase of $500,000 gallons since 1933, Arthur Dixon, Deputy Minister of Public Works for the province, told the Good Roads League of British Columbia here today in an address reviewing road development.

Highway safety, said Mr. Dixon, was rapidly assuming great importance.

"Strange though it may appear," he declared, "as the highways are improved, and as road beds are made safer for modern traffic, the accident toll is rising."

In remodeling the highways under the present B.C. plan, attention had been paid, he said, to reducing curvature, obtaining proper sight distance and correct banking on turns. A new type of standard warning sign, similar to that used in the United States, had been adopted.

"Signs, however, have not yet proved of much effect in curbing reckless driving," Mr. Dixon declared.

"It would seem that, as the highways are made safe the toll of accidents is increasing."

EXCESSIVE SPEED

"I think the answer to this is that the cause of most accidents is excessive speed. The difference between the damage which may be done by a car moving at 60 miles per hour and at 25 miles per hour is tremendous. It has been shown many times that most accidents occur on a straight stretch of road in clear weather."

"I believe the time will come when persons will only be permitted to drive motor vehicles after examination of their fitness to do so, which examination should be periodic; and that the mechanical fitness of all vehicles will also be examined periodically—all vehicles of the old type or mechanically unfit being ordered off the road."

"I see from the press that a move towards examination of drivers is being urged in Ontario, and I understand that rigid examination of drivers is necessary in Great Britain and perhaps elsewhere. When our laws have been amended along these lines the number of traffic accidents may be expected to show a reduction. Until then we may as well face facts and not be surprised at the present alarming increase."

Mr. Dixon gave a concise review of the road improvements carried out in the province in recent years.

Twelve years ago one could not drive a car from Vancouver to the interior without a detour through the United States, he said. So-called trunk highways were narrow, winding and steep, little better than wagon roads, the Island Highway was gravel. There was not a mile of paving in the interior and there were 55,000 cars licensed.

HALF SURFACED

"Since then the number of cars had doubled, the mileage of paved or bituminous surfaced road had increased from 154 to 986 miles exclusive of what was going on this year. At the end of 1937 there would be but 67 miles between Vancouver and Kamloops unsurfaced, 54.8 miles between Kamloops and Salmon Arm, and 72.3 miles between Salmon Arm and Penticton. From Vancouver to Crow's Nest, along the southern trans-provincial route, approximately 50 per cent was now surfaced, and the Island Highway was surfaced for practically the whole way to Campbell River from Victoria."

Between 1934 and 1937, he said, work included 323.08 miles of new mulch and 296.58 miles of new spray coat, a total of 619.66 miles. In addition 363.78 miles were resurfaced, making nearly 1,000 miles all told.

Mr. Dixon pointed out that low-cost surfacing methods had been adopted because of financial conditions. High-type pavements cost $25,000 a mile and since there were thousands of miles to be covered, this was out of the question.

Touching on future road development, Mr. Dixon mentioned the government's agreement with Ottawa, by which the Big Bend Highway will be completed by March 1, 1940.

"Needless to say the opening of this road will be an outstanding event, comparable with the completion of the famous Cariboo Road in 1861-64, and the rebuilding of it in 1925-27."

"There will, then, remain the completion of the Hope-Princeton route and, when this is effected, the major construction of new routes in the southern interior will have been completed. Our goal, however, will by no means have been reached, eventually we shall need a road to the Peace River district, a road to Prince Rupert, a connection to Jasper, both from Prince George, and from Kamloops, and the West Coast Road from Victoria to Alberni, to mention only a few of the projects that have been urged from time to time; and who can foresee what developments may take place in the northern part of the province during the next 25 years, necessitating possibly the construction of many hundreds of miles of roads in that area."

New Technique Checks Polio

Infantile Paralysis Preventive Seen in Zinc Sulphate Spray

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Parents anxious to protect their children against infantile paralysis by the newest preventive method may have a zinc sulphate pontocain solution dropped or sprayed into the child's nose by a physician specially trained in such work.

This is the advice, given in response to an inquiry by Science Service, of Dr. Max Peet of the University of Michigan, who with Drs. Dean H. Echois and Harry J. Richter have devised a new technique for giving the solution which should make it more effective.

The solution contains 1 per cent zinc sulphate, 1/2 per cent sodium chloride, and 1 per cent pontocain. The latter is a local anaesthetic used because the zinc sulphate solution is irritating and may cause smarting and running of the nose and even headache. The solution was devised by Drs. E. W. Schultz and L. P. Gebhardt of Stanford University. It is said to be more effective than the alumpieric acid spray devised by Dr. Charles Armstrong of the United States National Institute of Health, because in tests on monkeys it protected the animals for a longer period of time.

Chief difficulty with the nasal spray method of protecting against infantile paralysis is that the spray does no good unless it reaches the olfactory area, far at the back of the nose. The virus that causes infantile paralysis enters the body at this point, traveling along the nerve of smell to the nerve centres of brain and spinal cord. The spray hardens the tissues, keeping the virus from passing through.

Ordinary atomizers do not reach the olfactory area in the human nose, although they may in the monkey nose. Dr. Peet and associates have found that an atomizer with a long, thin metal spray tip will get the solution onto the olfactory area. The child's head must be tilted backward at about 45 degrees while the atomizer is used. This spray procedure must be carried out by a physician specially trained in the technique. A nose and throat specialist would know how to do it, but neither parents nor the physician unfamiliar with such technique can do it safely and satisfactorily.

The method cannot be used for children under eight unless they are very co-operative. For these, Dr. Peet advises dropping the solution into the child's nose when the child is lying on a table with his head hanging over the edge. The child's head should then be kept in this position for about two minutes. This method is not quite as certain to give protection but is, Dr. Peet says, the only one applicable in unco-operative children.

The zinc sulphate pontocain spray causes a little discomfort to children and more to adults.

"We are now trying different solutions to eliminate all discomfort. One is quite successful," Dr. Peet told Science Service, "but its value has not yet been determined by monkey experiments."

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

September 7, 1912

(From The Times Files)

Hon. J. K. Flemming, premier of New Brunswick, arrived in the city yesterday to attend the forestry convention. He will return to Vancouver on Friday and spend some days there before visiting the prairie cities on the way home.

So great has been the increase in the attendance at the public school of the Oak Bay municipality that the board of school trustees of that district have decided to add one more teacher to the staff.

Messrs. Neil McIntyre, deputy commissioner of fisheries, and J. P. Babcock, provincial fishery expert, have gone on a visit to the upper waters of the Fraser to examine the salmon spawning grounds. The trip is an annual one and is expected to take about a month.

Three witnesses were examined by the sewer investigating committee consisting of Alderman Humber, chairman; Alderman Okell and Alderman Gleason, at the first meeting last evening. They were City Engineer Rust, assistant engineer, A. E. Foreman, and the sewers engineer, A. O'Meara.

The average amount that a sheet will shrink is estimated to be five inches.

Leading Man Praises Garbo

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP)—Every time Greta Garbo gets a new leading man, he is suddenly stricken with profound reticence about her. However, Charles Boyer broke precedent today.

"Working with Miss Garbo has been my first completely satisfying experience since I came to Hollywood," the French actor said. "I had heard, naturally, of Miss Garbo's closed sets, and an intimation that actors and crew walked on tiptoes in a morgue-like atmosphere."

But it was not like this at all, Boyer found.

"She had a warm welcome for everyone and was particularly kind in her efforts to make me feel comfortable and at home."

Garbo was "just folks," Boyer said.

The Gordon Head Current Events Club will hold its first meeting of the fall season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Community Hall, Tyndall Avenue. Mrs. Nellie McClung will be the speaker on current events, and there will also be an interesting musical programme arranged by Mrs. E. G. Paddon, featuring solos by Mrs. Bishop and Miss Barbara Dawson. These meetings are open to the public and all interested will be cordially welcomed. They are from 3 to 4 o'clock and are held every two weeks.

May Alter Wedding Vows

Church Synod Discusses Marriage Service

HALIFAX — Changes in the marriage ceremony were suggested when delegates to the general synod of the Church of England in Canada discussed contemplated revision of the prayer book.

Identical vows for men and women were advocated, with the consequent deletion of the last two words of the phrase, "love, honor and obey" from the woman's vow.

It was also suggested the promise "I thee endow" be differently phrased, "because so many people, in repeating it without a knowledge of its meaning say, 'I three, thou.'"

Both suggestions were passed back to the committee for prayer book revision.

Pastor Enters Full Ministry

At a special service Sunday evening, Walter L. Holder, pastor of Victoria First Spiritualist Church, was ordained into the full ministry.

The ordination, conducted by Dr. R. McL. Angus, provincial president, was sequel to the 12th annual convention of the British Columbia Spiritualist Association, held here Saturday.

The executive of the association for the coming year, elected Saturday, included Dr. Angus, Vancouver, president; W. E. O'Cook, New Westminster, vice-president; J. Nimmo, Vancouver, secretary, and F. Parrott, Vancouver, treasurer.

New members of the provincial council included A. H. Matthews, New Westminster; Mrs. C. P. Brown, Victoria, and Mrs. M. Campbell, Victoria. Other council members are Mrs. A. L. Harrison, Vancouver; R. E. Gunn, Vancouver, and Mrs. Danilans and Mrs. Morgan of New Westminster.

The annual banquet was held Saturday evening at Spencer's dining-room. Dr. Angus and Mrs. T. Allen were speakers. A second business meeting was held after the banquet, and delegates attended a concert at the Truth Centre Hall.

Princess Patricia Lodge Daughters of St. George No. 238 met on Friday evening in the K. of C. Hall, the worthy president, Mrs. S. Hennie in the chair. Mrs. E. ## Plaids and Checks In Vogue

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Check and plaids, featured in the sports and travel ensembles of fall and winter collections, are being shown in more subdued colors and, more interesting combinations this year than before.

Color combinations most frequently seen in the new plaids are violet and fir-tree green, bordeaux red and pale rose, cornflower and cyclamen, rust and olive-green, slate-grey and raspberry.

Skirts are usually made up in large checks, and are short and often pleated. The lightweight sweaters or tailored blouses worn with them are of the same color as that dominating the plaid in the skirt. The ensemble is generally completed by a sleeveless waistcoat in suede, doeskin or velvet.

Jackets this year are more snugly-fitting and longer than those of last year. Three-quarter-length box jackets are likely to prove popular. The new jackets are high-necked, the shoulders only moderately square, the sleeves straight and slim, the revers narrow.

Raglan sport coats in reversible soft, thick but lightweight materials. Many of them are plaids.

Capes have come back into popularity for tall, slender women. Capes are three-quarters or seven-eighths in length, strictly tailored, and full without being exaggerated. They fit closely around the shoulders and button at the neck.

War Hits B.C. Salt-fish Trade

The Sino-Japanese warfare may make serious inroads on British Columbia's $1,000,000 salt herring and salt salmon business in the Orient, the provincial fisheries department was advised today.
 As preparations were under way for the opening of the salt fish season next month, the Chinese market, which took $450,000 worth of salt herring, was clouded with uncertainty, business in Shanghai being completely disrupted, the department said. At the same time, the Japanese government has placed British Columbia salt salmon on a list of restricted imports and the amount this market will absorb is in doubt. Last year the salt salmon business was worth $400,000.
 Although not noted as a corn state, Connecticut evolved the method of inbreeding and crossing corn varieties which has been adopted by every state.

"HOW YOU BEEN FEELING THIS SUMMER, DOCTOR?"

I SOMETIMES think that my friends are just a little disappointed at my constant good health. Can it be envy—or just a peculiarity of human nature? From the tone of his voice, I think the man who asked me the other day: "How you been feeling this summer, Doctor?" would have been a little pleased if I had said: "Oh, just fair to middling." Perhaps it does get a little monotonous to have me always say: "Fine—couldn't be better—feel like a fighting cock, etc."

As a matter of fact, I have worked like a navy this summer—much of it in the blazing sun on my farm, wearing only shorts and shoes, stripped to the waist. I dug and shoveled and chopped like a "hired man" and I'll be 80 years old this fall.

That's the way every man should feel, yes, and every woman, and can feel at 80 and beyond, if he or she is prepared to pay the price. And what is the price? Live according to nature's health laws. There is no Royal road, but there is a sure and certain road, or I should not be here at all, not to speak of being in ideal health, so fit at almost 80 that I defy old age and disease of any kind.

If the reader would emulate my achievement, here is how to do it. Make two-thirds to three-fourths of the daily meals from Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, and raw fruits and raw vegetables. The other third or fourth may be almost any sensible item of food. Exercise the muscles daily for at least 20 minutes, following some good system. If you have no chart of exercises, send 50c to me for a copy of my book "SYSTEMATIZED MUSCLE EXERCISES". Drink water or preferably Kofy-Sub, a most delicious beverage, especially when iced. Bathe or take a cool rub-down and an air bath daily. Walk as much as possible. Sleep in a well-ventilated room winter and summer. Keep an optimistic outlook and upturned mind. Keep nerves, muscles and mind untroubled and nothing can keep you down. Write for proof

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1937

Unimportant planetary influences appear to be active today, according to astrologers. Benefic aspects seem to dominate.

Victorians Drop Cricket Matches

Sports Mirror

By ART STOTT

For many years scribes have made it their business to debunk the wrestling game—to show that the gruesome yells, the anguished faces and the apparent ferocity of the fat-fellows are just parts of an act.

But they seldom devote much time to questioning the sincerity of sporting gestures which have become conventions in other lines of athletics.

The latter usually look nice. But for actual sincerity they are probably far behind the scream of pain your pachyderm emits when his opponent puts a foot in his mouth.

There's that little practice of trackmen shaking hands before starting a race. Other branches of sport follow it. Divers wish each other well. Boxers brush gloves. It looks swell from the galleries.

But while the competitors are wishing each other luck, verbally, they're probably hoping their opponents will break a leg, suffer a stroke or become otherwise incapacitated.

And that dash up to the net at the end of a tennis match—it looks grand, the vanquished congratulating the victor. If the match is important and particularly tough the loser probably feels more inclined to weep or biff the winner. But that's not done.

In fighting there's something particularly naive in the hand-shake gesture. The gloves touch, the boys step back and then proceed to try to knock each other's head off.

It's all part of the game. And nobody bothers about its sincerity.

Vancouver and Seattle Teams Take Labor Day Features Here

Three local cricket teams bowed in defeat to invading Vancouver and Seattle eleven yesterday. In the feature, Saturday League all-stars from the Terminal City took the measure of a representative week-end eleven here by 76 runs at Macdonald Park, while Wednesday League reps from across the Gulf overcame the Victoria midweekers by an innings and six runs at Beacon Hill.

Seattle, winding up a three-match visit, turned back the Albions by one wicket and 102 runs in the only league fixture of the day.

Led by R. Hardisty, who put on 67 not out, Vancouver Saturday Leaguers piled up too many runs for the local opposition. They finished with a total of 229, to which the Victoria side replied with 153, including a 51 by C. W. Twite, W. Scott with five wickets for 35 runs, was the most successful of the visiting bowlers. The victory was the second of the season in the inter-city series, and gave Vancouver the cup at stake for the annual matches.

At Mount Talmie, Vancouver Wednesday leaguers took an easy match and the Arthur Smith Cup from the Victoria side. Victoria batted first and put up 75 in two hours at the wicket. Vancouver replied with 143, including 45 by Lange and 33 by Clarke. The local side made only 82 on their second trip to the wicket.

Seattle wound up its three week-end league matches with a decisive victory over the Albions. The local club was dismissed for 43, to which the visitors replied with 145 for nine. Earlier in the week-end the Sound City team bowed in defeat to the Five C's and then took a close match from the Incogs to win two of three played.

Touring Victoria Cricketers Lose

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—The Hollywood Cricket Club defeated the Victoria, B.C., eleven yesterday by making 189 runs for eight wickets to 64, all out. It was the feature match of the Labor Day cricket festival on the Griffiths Park oval.

Vancouver, B.C., nosed out the Los Angeles Cricket Club, 117 for five wickets to 116, all out.

On Saturday Victoria defeated the Corinthians by 99 runs and six wickets. G. C. Grant scored 69 not out. T. Peers had a like score.

Vancouver Wins Softball Crown

Watkins-Winram Humble Painter's Bruins, 17 to 4, in Deciding Skirmish

Vancouver's Watkins-Winram softballers brought their heavy artillery into action on Victoria soil yesterday afternoon and in the wake of their withering fire lay Painter's Bruins, beaten by a score of 17 to 4. It was the deciding game of the provincial senior A softball play-offs.

More than 1,200 flocked to the Athletic Park to watch the duel. The local club's showing was a poor climax to a season of fine performances. They appeared to have a severe case of the jitters with the outfield only playing a steady game.

The Bruins' infield made a number of costly bores. George Glen-denning and Bert Simpson, without confidence in their support, attempted to win the ball game by strikeouts. They made a bad job of it. Harold Turner, who has not been in harness for Painter's Bruins for some time, was finally called in to turn back the invaders as the skirmish entered its dying rounds. He was more successful.

Bert Smith turned in a polished exhibition on the hill for the Terminal City club. Bruins' batters were only able to collect nine knocks from his fast deliveries and they were widely scattered.

Tigers Blank Yakima Squad

TACOMA—Allowing only two widely spaced hits as he pitched Tacoma Tigers to 4 to 0 win over Yakima here last night, Floyd "Lefty" Isekite turned in one of the brightest mound performances of the W.I.L. season by fanning 18 Peppin Batsmen, one short of the league record.

Spokane Hawks chalked up their tenth and eleventh straight victories by taking both ends of doubleheader from Wenatchee Chiefs, 7 to 4 and 5 to 2.

KLING WINS AIR FEATURE

Dives to Victory in Cleveland Thompson Trophy Event

CLEVELAND—A garage man who learned flying the hard way—by starting as a "grease monkey" and working up—held the most-prized title in closed course racing of United States today because he thought fast when a couple of other fellows ran into tough luck.

In the Thompson Trophy speed classic, Rudy Kling of Lemont, Ill., dived to a Labor Day victory when first one and then another of the leaders wavered.

It was a camera finish for the $24,000 event, closing feature of the National Air Races.

Earl Ortman of Los Angeles was second.

With a terrific burst of speed, enhanced by a drive in the final few hundred yards of the race, Kling shot across the finish line the winner at an average pace of 256.91 miles an hour.

Island Hoopsters Await B.C. Move

NANAIMO—The Vancouver Island Basketball Association in annual session here Sunday, discussed secession from the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada and decided to leave definite action until the Vancouver meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Basketball Association September 18.

Island basketball heads said their association would follow the lead in any action decided on at the mainland meeting.

Island playoffs were advanced to facilitate the provincial play-offs.

G. E. Bonner of Cobble Hill, was re-elected president. Other officers were: Honorary president, McTaggart Cowan, Vancouver; first honorary vice-president, John Johnson, Victoria; second honorary vice-president, John Hunt, Victoria; vice-president, S. Bishop, Port Alberni; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Cronk, Shawnigan Lake.

Results of the week-end play follow:

Champ. Flight—Second Round
J. Todd defeated R. Morrison 5 and 4.
W. W. Squires defeated E. Colgate 3 and 2.
W. C. Newcombe defeated N. Wallace 5 and 4.
C. E. Brown defeated F. Painter 3 and 2.

FAIRLY EVEN

The teams played fairly even ball in the first two frames, with the visitors getting the only run in the opening session. As the third inning got underway, the first blowout came. The Vancouver club hammered out five knocks which combined with two errors netted six runs, a barrage that drove Glen-denning to the showers in favor of Simpson. Simpson stemmed the tide for one inning but blew up in the fifth when Watkins-Winram got six more runs. When they chalked up a trio more in the seventh he was yanked and Turner came in to hold the opposition from further scoring, but one.

Lloyd Simpson gave Victoria its first run in the fifth with a circuit knock. Two runs in the seventh and one in the ninth finished the locals' scoring.

Glen-denning was nipped for seven hits and a like number of runs and Simpson was taken for nine knocks from which 10 runs were scored.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

Watkins-Winram 10 6 10 3 0 0 17 17 1

Painter's Bruins 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 4 9 8

Beats W. Newcombe Handily In Final; Extended In Semi

Victoria Shotmaker Plays Polished Game to Take Match 11 and 9

Morrison Off Form

Shooting par golf to end the final on the 27th hole, Jimmy Todd, Victoria Club, retained his city amateur golf crown yesterday with an 11 and 9 victory over Walter Newcombe at Colwood.

One down and two to go in his semi-final against Bill Squire earlier in the week-end, the defending titlist showed the fight which carried him to the championship last year by winning the match one up. In the final he was never seriously pressed. Todd advanced to the semis with a 5 and 4 verdict over Bob Morrison. Neither of the players were on their games, but Todd staged some remarkable recoveries to finish one under par as he took the Uplands' ace.

Newcombe made his way to the final with a 3 and 2 margin over Colwood's Cecil Brown. Newcombe played steady golf throughout the semi-final, which he reached with victories over Gordon Verley and Norman Wallace.

SMART EXHIBITION

Todd gave a polished exhibition in the final, shooting even par for the 27 holes he required. Every department of his game was working smoothly and his putting was particularly sound. The defending champion was down only once—when Newcombe gained a birdie three on the first hole. Todd was four up at the end of the first nine, increased his lead to eight on the second, went dormie 10 up and won the ninth hole of the afternoon to clinch the match and title for the third consecutive year.

The cards in the final follow:
Todd ..... 444354335-35

QUEBEC TAKES WOMEN'S GOLF

Led By Nora Hankin, Easterners Win Inter-Provincial Play

PINE RIDGE GOLF CLUB, Winnipeg—Quebec yesterday added the women's inter-provincial golf championship to the men's team golf title Phil Farley and his mates won at Ottawa in July.

Paced by slender Nora Hankin of Montreal, four Quebec women scored an aggregate 347 yesterday to retain the Royal Canadian Golf Association Shield. The eastern province fielded an entirely new team from that which won with 357 at Montreal last year.

Manitoba placed second with 366 and Ontario, champion in 1934-35, first two years of the competition, was third with 376. British Columbia had 378, an inter-sectional team 403, and Saskatchewan 409.

Nora Hankin was low in the field. Her 85 was nine over par for the 6,306-yard course. Two other Montrealers, Mrs. H. W. Soper and Mrs. J. D. Pearce, had 87 and 88 respectively, and Evelyn Mills, Ottawa, shot 87.

Mrs. E. E. Jackson, Victoria, led her province with an 89. Three Vancouver women found the course troublesome, and Kay Farrell fired 93; Mrs. R. W. Renwick 96 and Winnifred Evans 100.

Victorian Wins Outboard Trials

Rolly Hibbard Clocked at 66 2-3 Miles Per Hour at Cordova Bay Meet

Clipping along the surface at 66 2-3 miles per hour in his outboard hydroplane, Rolly Hibbard yesterday captured the Ed. Allen Cup for time trials at the Vancouver Island Outboard Association meet at Cordova Bay.

L. W. Van Dyke of Seattle in his sleek Water Dog, averaging 53 miles per hour, and Frank Sonntag of Wenatchee in Jerry, averaging 51 miles an hour, placed in the trials for runabouts, and James White, Vancouver, made 32 miles per hour in his service runabout.

Weather and water were perfect for the races, run over a three-quarter-mile oval course. From the beach and the bank, about 1,500 persons watched the events.

In an event for C service runabouts, Louis Schmelz in the steady R-48 took the Pendray-Grice Cup, Norman Grice placed second.

Watson Smith took the race for inboard hydroplanes, trailed by Percy Dutton.

Mainland Riders Carry Off Honors

"Morry" Robinson, Vancouver, Stars in Labor Day Races at Beacon Hill

Flashing superb form, Vancouver bike riders invaded Victoria yesterday morning and ran off with the lion's share of the honors in the Victoria Cycling Club's Labor Day race programme staged at Beacon Hill Park before a good holiday crowd. They rang up victories in the three B.C. championship events and the 10-lap Penwill Cup spin.

"Morry" Robinson, Vancouver's ace pedal-pusher, was the star of the meet. He scored firsts in the one and two-mile British Columbia open championship races and took the Penwill race trophy away from his fellow townsman, Leo Marchiori.

The points Robinson accumulated yesterday coupled with those he collected from previous meets held during the year—22 all told—gave him the honor of being crowned all-around bike riding champion of British Columbia for the third consecutive year.

Ten riders started in the 10-lap feature but Gordy Bell, Victoria, dropped out on the sixth time around. Robinson hurtled into the lead in the last 700 yards to beat the hard-riding pack over the line. Marchiori was right at his heels for second place and Eric Whitehead, blond-thatched Saanich youth, was third. Neil Duval, Victoria, got 31 points to win the lap prize. Robinson's time was 27.58.

WHITEHEAD SECOND

Whitehead followed Robinson over the line in both the one and two-mile open championship races, with Jack Barton, another up-and-coming local rider, finishing third in the one-mile spin and Marchiori taking the same position in the two-mile. Best times in these two races were: 2:48 3-5 and 5:23, respectively.

Racing over the mile course in 2:31 7-10, Sid Mortimer, Vancouver, carried off the junior laurels. Bob Stevenson, Victoria, was runner-up and Dick White beat Keith Rankin for third place in a camera finish.

Coming down the home stretch with a high burst of speed, Gordy Bell, Victoria, scored a victory by a comfortable margin in the event over two miles for boys under 18, with Dave Matthews, Vancouver, nosing out Bob Stevenson for second position. Rankin and Barry Hall, local products, collided at the start of the race.

Gordon Perkins, Victoria, hung up a victory in the one-mile race dependability of his engines in the race for F class runabouts, leaving Rolly Hibbard and Bob Stacey in his wake.

HUGHES WINS AARONSON CUP

Wilfred Hughes took the Aaronson Cup for midgets, outpacing Paul Stromkins, who had trouble with his engine.

The powerful white Water Dog, owned by L. W. Van Dyke, led Frank Sonntag's Jerry and Bill Stromkin's H9 past the checkered flag in the race for the C. Ellis Cup, an event for inboard hydroplanes.

In a novelty relay race for outboards and inboards, Louis Schmelz and L. W. Van Dyke soon drew ahead of Norm Grice and James White.

Louis Schmelz and Norm Grice placed first and second in a race for C service runabouts, and L. W. Van Dyke drew Water Dog to another victory in a balloon race for inboard hydroplanes.

Harry Payne in Cammie Cameron's R13 took the open five-lap outboard race. Second was Louis Schmelz.

Many members of the association attended a dance in the evening at McMorran's Pavilion.

BRONKS BEAT ROUGHRIDERS

REGINA—Regina's Roughriders, kings of prairie rugby, were humbled last night in their 1937 debut as Carl Cronin's powerful Bronks from Calgary rallied in the second half to score a 4 to 1 victory. It was the second win in four nights for Calgary's newly-built club which rang up a 13 to 8 victory over Winnipeg in the western conference opener last Friday.

Big Ed Rorvig, noted for his plunging, gave the Bronks their margin of victory midway through the last quarter, but it wasn't through the line that he did the damage. Called upon to make a placement kick from 35-yard range, Rorvig split the uprights with a perfect boot.

DUNCAN GOLF

F. Leeming won the monthly medal competition played on the links at Duncan on Sunday with a net score of 63, handicap 16.

Giants Move West With League Lead

New Yorkers Start Road Trip With Three-game Lead in National

Westward the path of the pennant takes its way with the game guys from Coogan's Bluff plumb in the middle of the road.

Just about everything possible in baseball happened for 245,000 major league fans who saw yesterday's 16 games. Lefty Lee Grissom of the Reds pitched a one-hitter—and lost. Ray Phebus—of course, you don't know who he is—hurled a one-hitter for Washington, and won. Joe DiMaggio slapped homer No. 40. Hank Greenberg powdered No. 33.

And when it was all over, what was the news? The Giants had won two and the Cubs had split. The New Yorkers start an 18-game trip to hostile ballparks tomorrow with a three-game lead.

Supported by the stalwart arms of Cliff Melton and Hal Schumacher, the Giants drubbed the Phillies, 6 to 2, and 9 to 3. Honest John McCarthy hit two home runs; Harry Danning got another. Mel Ott extended his hitting streak to 21 straight games and drew closer to the coveted 300 mark.

The thunderous cheers that greeted the conquerors were matched in Chicago by the moans of the north siders. The last place Reds came very close to trimming the Cubs twice. They won the opener 7 to 3 behind Paul Derringer. Grissom checked the Cubs in the nightcap until the eighth, when Phil Cavaretta's pop fly double, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and a long fly plus some shoddy infield play handed the Chicagoans two runs and the ball game, 2 to 1.

PIRATES-CARDS SPLIT
The Pirates and Cardinals, the only other clubs even faintly in the race, split. The Cards won one behind Bob Weiland, 4 to 1, and Arky Vaughan's homer took the second for the Bucs, 5 to 4. The Dodgers won behind Luke Hamlin 2 to 1 in 10 innings, and then bowed before Lou Fette as that admirable and aged rookie won his 17th victory.

Young Mr. Phebus, a 28-year-old right-hander, from Clovis, Cal., by way of Chattanooga, brought his talent to the attention of the American League by blanking the Red Sox with one hit after the Sox, behind the venerable Lefty Grove, had won the opener, 6 to 2. Phebus fanned four and walked seven.

The Yankees had little trouble with the Philadelphia Athletics, taking two, 6 to 3, and 2 to 1. The Bronx Bombers kept pace with their competition (heh, heh!) as the Tigers shook down the Browns, 10 to 9, and 5 to 2, with Greenberg and Pete Fox leading the way.

Bob Feller fanned nine, allowed four hits and tripled to give the Indians an even break, 2 to 1, after Ted Lyons had halted the tribe in the morning game for the White Sox by the same score.

COAST LEAGUE
Sacramento Solons, who wound up at the bottom of the Coast League baseball heap last year, confidently measured themselves for the 1937 crown today.

Their confidence was based on a four-and-a-half-game leadership piled up when the Senators won seven out of nine from the Oakland A's and San Francisco defeated second-place San Diego six games out of nine.

Sacramento took both ends of a twin bill from the A's yesterday by scores of 17 to 1 and 4 to 1. San Francisco's Seals made it six in a row over the Padres winning a pair, 11 to 2, and 2 to 1 to climax their series.

Portland moved closer to the first division as it took two from Seattle, 10 to 2, and 5 to 4, while fourth-place Los Angeles dropped both ends of a twin bill.

Up-Islanders Lose Softball

NANAIMO — Vancouver Albertas were tops in the British Columbia Senior B Softball League today by virtue of Shorty White's pitching arm and the double-barrelled victory it won for the mainland champions over Ladysmith Sunday.

Albertas romped away with both ends of a double-header, 9-0 and 5-0.

In the intermediate final, played yesterday, Ladysmith took both halves of a double-header from Vancouver Heather Merchants to win the British Columbia championship 6 to 3 and 10 to 4. In the first Battle pitched smoothly for the winners and came through with two hits when they were needed.

KING REPLIES TO ABERHART

OTTAWA (CP)—In two letters posted to Alberta's Premier, William Aberhart, September 2, and made public here at the weekend, Prime Minister Mackenzie King suggested there were no grounds for further argument on disallowance, and defended the personnel of the royal economic commission.

Mr. King was replying to communications received by wire and letter from the Social Credit government leader, challenging the federal government's right to disallow provincial legislation, and charging the members of the economic commission held such views that Alberta's administration would not receive due consideration.

The royal commission of five members under the chairmanship of Hon. N. W. Rowell, chief justice of Ontario, will meet in Ottawa Wednesday to organize for its inquiry into economic relations between the Dominion and province.

Bespeaking for the commission the confidence and co-operation of the country as a whole, the Prime Minister declared it had no authority "other than that which may derive from the force and reasonableness of the report it will present." Its recommendations would be acted on only after full public discussion.

WRITES BRIEFLY
In comparatively brief communications the Prime Minister dealt with the long letters and telegrams sent by Mr. Aberhart. He did not deal with the Social Credit leader's arguments as to the efficiency of present banking legislation. He found nothing in Mr. Aberhart's communications that would raise any point as to the constitutional authority of the government to act as it did.

Mr. Aberhart's letter on disallowance was made public in Edmonton, August 30. It had been preceded a week earlier by a telegram which challenged the government's right to disallow provincial legislation.

Three weeks ago the government, acting under authority of the British North America Act, disallowed three statutes passed by the Alberta Legislature at a brief special session early in August. One of these provided that all bankers within the province be licensed and that they come under regulation by a board on which representatives of the provincial government would be in the majority.

A second bill took away the right of any banker to take civil action in the courts without the permission of the provincial government, and a third statute deprived every citizen of Alberta of the right to challenge any provincial statute in the courts without permission of the government.

CRITICIZED APPOINTMENTS
Linking up appointment of the royal commission with the disallowance order-in-council, Mr. Aberhart, in a letter dated August 26, and made public in Edmonton, September 2, referred to the "precipitate haste" with which the commission was announced following disallowance of the Alberta acts.

In this letter, and in a statement to the press, August 18, Mr. Aberhart criticized the personnel of the commission and the terms of reference.

BEFORE CABINET
EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Aberhart declined to comment today on two letters written by Prime Minister King in reply to letters from the Alberta government.

Mr. Aberhart stated the letters from Mr. Mackenzie King would be considered at a cabinet meeting.

LAWN BOWLING

Mrs. A. Mowat and Mrs. A. Playfair, of the Burnside Club, won the rose bowl for competition in the women's doubles competition played last week on the C.P. bowling green. Mrs. Z. McLeod, president, presented the prizes.

Baron Extended In U.S. Net Play

Von Cramm Given Tough Fight to Advance in U.S. Men's Singles Play

FOREST HILLS, N.Y.—Barring minor disturbances the combined men's and women's United States singles tennis championships followed their plotted courses yesterday before 14,000 spectators.

When the final stadium match brought defending champion Alice Marble home a winner and into the quarter-finals, there had been a number of matches that thrilled the holiday customers, but no genuine upsets.

There were four matches, though, in the men's division, that for a time gave the gate-conscious officials a headache. One of them again featured Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Germany's first-seeded foreigner and the man everyone expects to see go up against Don Budge, the Oakland, Cal., star, in the final round.

Saturday the Baron had to go four sets to eliminate Don McNeill, unseeded youngster from Oklahoma.

Yesterday he struck a midwestern snag, in Hal Surface, sixth-seeded American from Kansas City, and again had to go four sets, 3-6, 7-5, 3-6, 7-5.

BUDGE EASY WINNER

Budge lost only two games in running down Joe Abrams of New York, at 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

Blitsy Grant, fourth-seeded American, who will meet the Baron in the quarter-finals Wednesday, had to scramble from the brink of elimination to wipe out Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, 6-2, 4-6, 5-7, 6-1, 6-1.

Bobby Riggs, Hollywood, eliminated Fumitaru Hakano, sixth-seeded foreigner from Japan, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 8-6, in the women's section Miss Marble and Helen Jacobs, former champion from Berkeley, Cal., and Polish Jadwiga Jedzejowska and Chilean Anita Lizana, the four principal contenders, all scored in straight sets.

TORONTO — Toronto cricket club successfully defended the John Ross Robertson Cup yesterday, defeating McGill Club of Montreal by an innings and 111 runs.

British Columbia won the international team match with a score of 486. Second place won by the Manitoba-Ontario team.

EGYPT'S LEAN KINE

TONS OF CANADIAN NICKEL IN THE GREAT ASWAN DAM . . .

ONCE A YEAR life-giving moisture comes to the almost rainless land of Egypt. Away in the Abyssinian highlands the torrential rains of late summer swell the Blue Nile. Some weeks later this freshet of "red water" spreads over Egypt's agricultural region, bringing moisture and fertility.

Today this annual deluge is collected behind the great Aswan Dam, to be doled out to thirsty acres during the lean months of the year. Built to a height of 70 feet in 1901, this dam was raised 16 1/2 feet in 1905, and recently another addition of 29 feet was found necessary.

Some 250 tons of stainless steel plates containing 9% Nickel were used to separate the old and new masonry, because such plates minimize friction and are not subject to corrosion. Nickel alloys are also used for the roller tracks of the sluice gates.

With the help of better materials, man's engineering genius is today conquering obstacles that were insurmountable a few years ago. In the forefront of these materials go Nickel and its alloys to provide greater strength, toughness and corrosion resistance.

And to the world's far frontiers go International Nickel sales representatives to tell the world new ways in which Nickel can be profitably used in the peaceful pursuits of industry.

Increased sales of Nickel the world over mean more employment for Canadians and greater prosperity for Canada.

GAS PROFIT IS

CENT A GALLON

Not Much Hope of Lower Price, Says Imperial Oil Official

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

VANCOUVER—While the British Columbia government's royal commission on fuel problems is reported to have recommended a drastic cut in the price of gasoline in the province, Frank Prendergast of Toronto, assistant to the president of the Imperial Oil Company, cannot see how automobile fuel can be made much cheaper here.

Oil companies are making a profit of less than one cent on every gallon of gasoline sold in this province, said Mr. Prendergast, who is in Vancouver attending the convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"I wonder if you ever realized that out of every dollar spent on gasoline in British Columbia, over 26 cents goes in taxes, 26.29 cents to be exact," Mr. Prendergast said. "In addition to that, there are uncontrollable costs in that dollar amounting to 52.87 cents, and then there is the cost of management, marketing and manufacturing amounting to 20.84 cents. That's where the dollar goes."

Asked about the common belief here that oil companies have kept gasoline prices relatively high in order to keep down the cost of fuel oil, Mr. Prendergast repeated his statement that these companies operate on a margin of less than a cent a gallon and added that the price of fuel oil is fixed by world conditions.

"If our oil prices were above the world price," he said, "ships wouldn't bunker here and we would lose all the business."

And besides that, there are many complicated factors in the oil business that the layman does not understand, Mr. Prendergast says.

Even if these things are not clear to the ordinary motorist, one thing is clear—there is not much chance so far as Mr. Prendergast can see, of lower gasoline prices here under the present cost of production and distribution.

Parades Seen

On Labor Day

Holiday Marked By Events in Most of Canada's Towns

By Canadian Press

Canada celebrated her 44th Labor Day with sports events, parades and addresses in which speakers appealed for a better understanding of organized labor by the public.

Western observance was quiet. Hon. Norman Rogers, Dominion Minister of Labor, told labor leaders at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto it was a mistake to assume unions were irresponsible and wanted strikes.

"It is well that we in this country should recognize, in view of some difficulties that have occurred elsewhere, that Canadian unions are always willing to accept responsibility for industrial peace," the Labor Minister said.

Parades marked Labor Day celebrations in most cities. In Montreal more than 5,000 workers joined in a march. In Toronto a long line of union members marched to hear Mr. Rogers speak. At London, Ont., 2,500 union members paraded from Market Square to Queen's Park, where horse races, athletic events, greyhound racing and other events featured the celebrations.

Tourist traffic across the border at Fort Erie dropped about 10 per cent compared with last Labor Day, and customs and immigration officials expressed belief the Ontario infantile paralysis epidemic and colder weather had dampened tourists' wishes for a Canadian holiday.

The annual firemen's field day, a three-day affair, opened at Windsor, with 80,000 persons expected to attend before the concluding event.

Representatives of Toronto labor unions pledged themselves to fight for legislation which would permit them to organize in any union of their choice. J. W. Buckley, secretary of the Toronto District Labor Council, uttered the first words of labor in the Ontario election campaign when he warned "all politicians to keep their noses out of the trade union movement."

"I warn the Prime Minister (Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario) if he dares to introduce legislation to compel trade unions in Ontario to register, he will have on his hands the biggest fight in his life," said Buckley.

First Labor Day celebration in years was held at Cornwall, Ont., where strikes during the last year tied up Canadian Cottons Mills. More than 1,500 persons joined in the parade to Central Park, where 3,000 persons joined the labor rally.

Steel workers joined with coal miners at Sydney, N.S., to hear United Mine Workers' leaders deliver messages.

Liverpool, N.S., drew Halifax unions to join in a huge parade.

More than $655 was donated for the relief of Chinese and foreign war refugees on Flower Day, last Saturday, the Chinese Salvation Bureau announced this morning. So generous was the public response that the supply of flowers at the Hudson's Bay Company and other stores had to be replenished three times during the day, and the Victoria's Bulb Growers' Association used all available blooms. The Chinese of Vancouver, it is understood, will institute a similar sale soon.

The Young Citizens' League of British Columbia will move into temporary provincial headquarters today in several rooms situated above 565 Yates Street. As the funds of the league will be severely strained by this burden of a rented headquarters, donations of tables, desks, typewriters, chairs or other office equipment are sought. Any recreational equipment in the form of table tennis outfits or boxing gloves would also be appreciated. Donations and inquiries as to the activities of the Young Citizens' League should be left at 565 Yates Street, or mailed to the general provincial secretary, Neil B. Butler, 1702 Duchess Street.

Tenth Local Movie Now In Production

Work Started Today On "Murder Is News" By Central Films

"Murder Is News," 10th picture to be made in Victoria by Central Films Limited for Columbia Pictures Incorporated, in accordance with the British quota regulations, went into production this morning.

The movie is the second of the new schedule called for under a more extensive contract which Mr. Bishop signed with Columbia early this summer.

John Gallaudet, who starred in Central Films' last production, "Manhattan Whirlwind," is taking the lead in the new picture, and is playing the same role, that of Jerry Tracey, newspaper columnist and radio commentator.

Playing opposite Mr. Gallaudet is Doris Lloyd, who arrived in Victoria from Hollywood on Sunday. Other Hollywood actors who have come here to take part in "Murder Is News," are: Colin Kenny, John Spacey and Allan Brook.

The movie is being made with the same production crew as "Manhattan Whirlwind." Leon Barsha is the director, George Rhein the assistant director, George Meehan cameraman, Bill Beckway second cameraman, Herb Eicke soundman and Jack Haynes assistant soundman.

Reginald Hincks, local actor, has a prominent part in the new production, and a number of other Victorians will get work as extras and minor actors.

The story has its setting in New York, and boasts fast action and an unusual plot. It was written, as was "Manhattan Whirlwind," by Edgar Edwards, young actor-author who played the leading role in "Murder Goes North," produced by Central Films in April of this year.

Nearly at EndSanford Evans Warns
Against Deserting South Saskatchewan

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

VANCOUVER—Sanford Evans of Winnipeg has watched the wheat grow on the Canadian prairies for a lifetime, has calculated the crop year by year, seen big harvests and small, watched farmers making big money in war times and lose everything in drought.Now, as one of the best authorities on grain in the world he comes out of the prairies to warn Canada against panic and desperate expedients in the dust bowl of Saskatchewan.Attending the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here, Mr. Evans declared today it was the wildest kind of folly to talk about deserting southern Saskatchewan, moving its people away from the drought area."There is a great property in southern Saskatchewan, with a huge plant and skilled men to operate it, who are temporarily in difficulties not because of anything they have done but because the air currents have not been bringing them moisture at the right time. We must keep that plant intact, and we must keep ready the men to operate it, the men who have shown they can operate it successfully."A study of weather records, Mr. Evans says, shows there have been big droughts like the present
one, running up to a maximum of ten years. From this it seems certain, he believes, that the drought cycle is almost at its end now.
To desert the vast wheat area temporarily out of production at this time would be the worst of judgment, he thinks. Canada should wait for the end of the cycle.Well-known hockey and baseball player, Bird was employed in the Yankee Girl mine concentrator at Ymir.Caution Urged

tion of wages and conditions of work in industry must not be carried too far.In his presidential address
Bevin contended such regulation
"might likely lead us on to the slippery slope of a totalitarian state under capitalist control, by which our very liberty might be destroyed."Bevin told delegates from 214 unions that "we must consider carefully the question of how far the state should be permitted to interfere in the regulation of wages and conditions."He declared parliament should pass a new workmen's compensation act and legalize holidays with pay.The government's drastic rearmament programme will come up for discussion on Friday, when a resolution of the amalgamated engineering unions will be moved as an amendment to a joint statement by the National Council of Labor and the Labor Party executive.The joint statement declared that labor "is prepared unhesitatingly to maintain such armed forces as are necessary to defend our country and to fulfill our obligations."The A.E.U. in its amendment condemns the arms programme and declares the main danger of war arises from the Fascist powers. It calls for strengthening of the League of Nations,
"based on the closest co-operation between Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia," to "check the Fascist war-mongers."Bevin declared labor economics,

BRITISH POSITION

British power is weak in the Far East, and so long as Britain is involved in her rearmament campaign she will not be able to give full-blooded attention to the situation in the Far East, according to the statements made in group discussions on the present
Pacific problems. It was estimated it might be anywhere from six to 18 months before British effectiveness could be looked for.Other conclusions from the round-table discussions on the Pacific problem participated in which has been backward and

Saved from the Indians

John Kinzie was a backwoodsman and fur trader. For eight years he had been dealing with Indians around the southern and western sides of Lake Michigan. Many of them were his friends.

With his wife and children, Kinzie made his home across the river from Fort Dearborn back in the year 1812. Then came a terrible day. Fort Dearborn was destroyed by Indians.

Kinzie and his family were taken prisoners by the same Indians. It was the fate of many white prisoners in those days to be put to death, but the fur trader had enough friends among the warriors to delay the event for a while.

Held in a log cabin, the Kinzies waited to see what would happen to them. They trembled, for they feared the worst. Among the Indians, there was a great deal of talking. Some were in favour of the death sentence, but one of the chiefs spoke in their favor. His name was Shab-ba-na, and it meant "Built Like a Bear."

After dark, a large number of warriors came to the camp from other places. When they heard about the captives, they shouted in their own language, "The whites must die!" Shab-ba-na tried to keep them away from the Kinzies, but the angry warriors pressed toward them.

Meanwhile, a little friend of the prisoners had seen their danger, and was trying to save them. A half-breed Indian girl had slipped away from camp. Remembering how kindly Mrs. Kinzie had treated her, she wanted with all her heart to keep her from harm.

Running as fast as she could, the girl reached the place where Chief Sangannah was staying, and told him of the danger. This chief was an old friend of John Kinzie and, when the child spoke to him, he quickly set out to save the white man. Reaching the camp, he found the warriors making ready to slay their prisoners with tomahawks.

"Stop!" cried Chief Sangannah. "You shall not kill these people! They are my friends."

So important was this chief that his words were obeyed. The Kinzies were saved from death, and later were freed.

After the return of peace, the whites of the region looked upon Sangannah as a good friend. They spoke of him by an English name, "Billy Caldwell."

A town in Illinois was named Shab-ba-na, in honor of Chief Built-Like-a-Bear. When the half-breed girl grew up, she married a white man, Joseph Pathier.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—How does a lady go about finding a husband? I am a spinster 41 years old and have been a nurse for the last 10 years, but the height of my ambition is to have a home of my own where I can cook, scrub, sweep and dust to my heart's content. I know I would make some man a good wife, but where and how to meet one who would appreciate a real homemaker is the thing that puzzles me. MAUD.

Answer—Finding a husband is like discovering a gold mine. It is a matter of luck. There is no scientific formula for doing either one. The only advice I can give is to tell you to prospect where the treasure you desire has been found, and if you don't succeed, change your location and go to a fresh field.

If you are hunting a husband, it is sense to go where you will be thrown in contact with many men. There is no use fishing in a stream in which there are no fish. Many women fail to marry because they live in communities in which there are no men left but senile grandpas and callow boys.

A girl who lives on an isolated farm or in a little village from which all of the eligible boys have gone to seek their fortunes elsewhere is foredoomed to be an old maid unless she follows the men to the cities.

Many other girls who would like to marry fail to do so because they are not appreciated at home. The boys with whom they have grown up have seen them so long and so often that they have lost their perspective and fail to recognize how charming and attractive they are. They just take it for granted that Mamie is nice, Sallie is pretty and that the chaps who get them will be mighty lucky, but they make no specific appeal to them. There is no novelty about them, no thrills.

But let these girls go to some other town and the boys fall for them because they are strangers. Their little box of tricks, that they didn't even have the nerve to open at home, are a vow with the men who have never seen them before. There is a hint to the wise virgin in the number of girls who marry away from home.

Of course, too, there is the pursuit method of catching a husband. Many a woman picks out the man she wants and literally chases him to the altar.

But no one can really give you a reliable recipe for catching a husband. Nor can any one explain why it is that some women attract men and could marry a dozen husbands if the law permitted, while other women just as good-looking, just as charming, just as desirable in every way, are passed over by men and never have a chance to be the good wives that Nature intended them to be.

It seems to me that the woman who has no allure for men is far wiser to accept the situation and reconcile herself to it than she is in keeping up the hopeless effort to catch a husband. For a husband is only desirable when he is desirable. Just as often he is a curse as he is a blessing and marriage is not invariably the holy estate. Many a woman finds it hell.

Many women forget this. They will marry any sort of a man just because they want a husband and a home and then they find that they have got a worthless, drunken, surly brute who has no home to take them to, and whom they have to support.

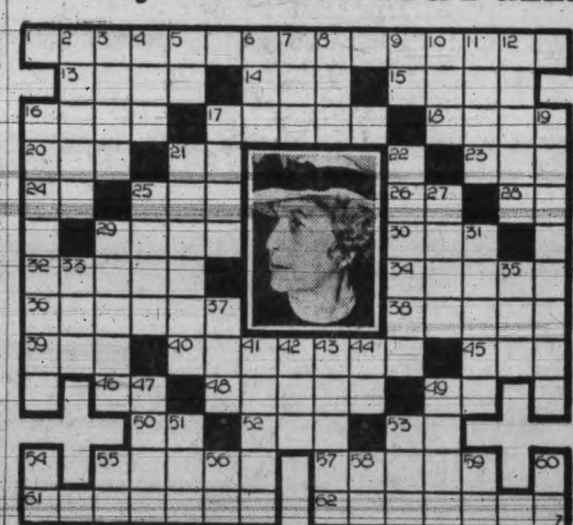

You have your profession which makes you independent. You can make your own home which you can scrub and sweep and dust to your heart's content, and you can have peace and comfort in it. Far better to be content with these than risk the chances of marrying some man who will regard you as nothing but a meal ticket.

After women are 41, men seldom fall romantically in love with them, and the ones who marry them are mostly derelicts who want some one to take care of them.

DOROTHY DIX.

On her first trip to Canada, during a world tour, Mary Somerville, in charge of educational programmes for the British Broadcasting Corporation, came ashore from Ss. President Jefferson this morning with her small son.

She was met on shipboard by Albert Sullivan and Major W. H. Bullock-Webster, members of the regional committee of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and Mrs. Curtis Sampson.

Mary Somerville, in private life Mrs. Brown, went to Japan to attend the World Education Conference in Tokyo. When she passed through Shanghai all was quiet. She saw plenty of warlike preparation in Japan, however, and was on the dock in Kobe when refugees arrived there from Shanghai.

Tomorrow Miss Somerville will proceed to Vancouver and will broadcast from there in the evening at 8.30.

Yachts Make Gala Scene At Cowichan

Ideal Weather Conditions As Yachtsmen From Many Clubs Compete in Regatta

By Special Correspondent
COWICHAN BAY—Bronzed, white-capped yachtsmen from many of the north-west's leading yacht clubs went to lovely Cowichan Bay over the week-end and there competed for a number of prized trophies, gave themselves and the many spectators plenty of thrills and provided a picturesque scene as they sent their white-winged craft over the blue and green waters.

It was one of the most successful regattas ever held at Cowichan and was under the auspices of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, whose members were there in full force, headed by Commodore Wm. Day. Members of the Maple Bay and Cowichan Bay Yacht Clubs co-operated with their larger sister to make the regatta one-long to be remembered. Cowichan Bay is ideally situated for yachting. Its waters are sheltered—a little too sheltered, as it happened on Sunday, for there was not a great deal of breeze. However, clever handling made up to a certain extent for this.

FIVE COMMODORES

There were five commodores and four Yacht Club flagships present for the racing events. They were, in addition to Commodore Day, Commodore F. M. Ohrt of Victoria in Tamara, Commodore E. R. Roome of Maple Bay in Falcon, Commodore Gerald Hawlett of Cowichan Bay, in Dorothy H., and Commodore C. W. Stimson of Seattle in Red Jacket.

The week-end started for the Victoria club on Saturday afternoon with a power-boat race from Cadboro Bay to Cowichan Bay for the Lane Cup. The skippers chose their own time of departure, the boat reaching Cowichan at 6 or nearest to that hour being the winner.

YOLANDA WINS LANE CUP
Yolanda II, Colonel E. C. Pepper, dropped his hook at 5.56.10 p.m. and Commodore Ohrt at 5.45.35 p.m.

Sunday morning the power boats and the auxiliary sailing boats raced from Maple Bay to Cowichan Bay for the Maple Bay Yacht Club Cup. Skippers from Cowichan and Maple Bay had this event all their own way and their bigger sister-ships from the mainland were hardly in the picture at all.

WANDERER II IS WINNER

Wanderer II, C. Bromilow of Maple Bay, was first, on an error of 10 seconds, followed by Vice-Commodore J. L. Gibbs of Cowichan Bay in Tanziella, on an error of 24 seconds; Douglas James of Maple Bay in Radiant on an error of 26 seconds, and Commodore Hewlett in Dorothy H., on an error of 50 seconds. The finishes were unusually close. In all there were 21 entries for this event.

The big Class A cruisers, the pick of the northwest, were splendidly represented at Cowichan Bay and gave some of the finest exhibitions of the "sport of kings." Some beautiful racing was seen in their race.

CIRCE IS VICTOR

Ray Cooke's Circe of Seattle won her class—a 14 nautical mile course in the bay—on the elapsed time of 3 hours 55 minutes 5 seconds, followed by Cresset, the Lorry brothers of Vancouver, 5 hours 1 minute and 14 seconds; Westward Ho of Orcas Island, 5 hours 2 minutes and 32 seconds, and Red Jacket, Commodore Stimson of Seattle, 3 hours 51 minutes and 2 seconds.

Commodore "Barney" Johnsonson of Vancouver, former skipper of Westward Ho, sailed her Sunday. This fine yacht now is owned by a girl's camp on Orcas Island.

GAMINE WINS CLASS B

The Class B cruisers sailed the same course, this event being won by Gamine, H. T. Frederickson of Vancouver, with Armida, T. M. Ramsay, Vancouver, second, and Nelmar, A. Marshall of Vancouver, third. Circe won the special trophy for these combined classes.

CLASS C EVENT

Skipper Darling of Victoria in Elmarsh won the Class C event, with Ganessa, Skipper Longley, Vancouver, second; Richmond II, F. C. Holden, Victoria, third, and Sea-Alder, Commander Barnes, R.C.N., Crofton, fourth. These boats went once around the course—seven nautical miles.

SPIRIT II WINS

Spirit II, Harold Jones, Vancouver, won the event for racing sloops, followed by Turengu, Skipper Stuart, Vancouver, and Alexandra, Temple Wright of Vancouver. They sailed 14 nautical miles.

RETAINS COWICHAN CUP

Harry Barnes Jr., in Panch, retained the Cowichan Dinghy Cup by his victory on Sunday. He sailed the course in two hours and 16 seconds, followed by Kismet, Herbert Gann, 2 hours 2 minutes and 59 seconds; Penguin, E. P. Ashe, in 2 hours 22 minutes and 16 seconds. These are elapsed times. Tahiti, Jim Golby, and Puffin were also entered from Victoria.

COMBINED CLASSES

Frank Ward, Victoria, won the combined snipe and X classes on elapsed time of 2 hours 22 minutes and 50 seconds. J. Mutter, Maple Bay, was second, 2 hours 40 minutes and 10 seconds; R. Griffin, Vancouver, third, 2 hours 47 minutes and 30 seconds, and K. Vidal, Maple Bay, fourth.

TZOUHALEM CUP

The Tzouhalem Cup, for stars, went to Skipper Whitworth of Vancouver, sailing Stardust. Next was Cedric Dill of Vancouver in Ariki. Other Victoria boats in this event were Aquila, A. Packford; Mintaka, W. T. M. Barrett, and Aura, I. C. Barltrop.

There were approximately 35 yachts in the Bay over the week-end. Colonel Victor Spencer's Deerleap was the largest. Others were Minerva, Harry Barnes, Victoria; Spindrift, Sparton III, Col. R. C. Andros, Victoria; Starlight, Querida, Dr. W. J. Gibson, Victoria; Fusilier, Kalitan, Jeran, J. F. Dick, Victoria; Thealla, Rhinegold, Brendan, Semi, Lady Alice, Varuna, Nereid, Ron Cella and Minto.

SPENCER CLASS

The Spencer class was seen in action for the first time in Vancouver Island waters. This is a new class, which is becoming quite popular in Vancouver. First in this event was Lady Luck, A. C. Taylor, Vancouver; second, Carita, W. A. Roedde, Vancouver; Sir Tom and Marlin, Skipper Macdougall, Vancouver.

Yesterday, under ideal weather conditions, the yachts weighed anchor and sailed away to their home clubs, leaving Cowichan Bay for another year. Saturday evening the yachtsmen and their ladies and friends gathered at the Maple Bay Inn for the regatta dance, which was a great success.

Ben Temple of Victoria, who has been starting yacht races for years, again acted as official starter, with Frank O'Reilly, judge and fleet-captain Van Dyke of Maple Bay, and Peter F. Thornton, secretary of the Cowichan Bay Yacht Club as time-keeper.

SAILING SHIPS IN CLOSE RACE

Seven Seas and Joseph Conrad Do Not Know Yet Which Won Ocean Contest

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Two square-rigged ships, hold-overs from another age of seamanship, have staged as close a finish as ever caused a yacht race committee to wrangle.

They are the Seven Seas, owned by William Gubelman and Captain Hans Milton, and the Joseph Conrad, owned by H. Huntington Hartford and skippered by Alexis Troinin.

They sailed from Newport, R.I., August 26 on a 660-mile ocean race, and yesterday crossed the finish line off St. David's Light only 10 minutes apart.

The Conrad claimed the victory on the strength of an 11-minute time allowance, but Capt. Milton of the Seven Seas countered by hoisting the protest flag, contending the Conrad was outside the five-mile limit when she passed the finish line. The affair was to be decided today.

Popular Canadian Pacific Official Will Leave Soon For Montreal

E. F. L. STURDEE

E. F. L. Sturdee, for the last seven years general passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific at Vancouver, has been appointed assistant passenger traffic manager of his company at Montreal, effective October 1, according to an announcement made by R. G. McNeillie, passenger traffic manager, and received in Victoria this morning. He will be succeeded by G. Bruce Burpee.

Mr. Sturdee, in his new position, will succeed Mr. McNeillie, who recently took charge of the company's passenger traffic department on the retirement of C. B. Foster.

Nearly 45 years have been spent by Mr. Sturdee in Canadian Pacific passenger work in Canada, the United States and the Far East. He was general agent at Seattle, passenger agent for the Orient, with headquarters in Hongkong, and assistant general passenger agent at Montreal before going to Vancouver.

While stationed in Vancouver, Mr. Sturdee came frequently to Victoria. His many friends here will wish him well in his new office, but will miss his monthly visits and his cheery greetings.

Mr. Sturdee's work for Kiwanis International is widely known. In 1930 he was president of the Montreal club and in 1935 was named president of the Vancouver club.

Mr. Burpee entered Canadian Pacific service as a ticket agent at Saint John in 1904. For the last year he has been assistant general passenger agent at Montreal.

Cargo Again Comes Off At This Port

Longshoremen, Hired By New Company, Take 700 Tons From President Liner

For the first time in many months cargo was swung ashore from a "President" ship of the American Mail Line at Victoria's Ocean Docks this morning.

Ss. President Jefferson arrived from the Orient at 5, unloading 700 measurement tons of general freight commenced at 7 and it was noon before the ship backed away for Seattle.

The Island Steamship Company, recently organized, with headquarters in Vancouver, hired the longshoremen to discharge the ship. All were members of the local branch of the International Longshoremen's Association.

There was no trouble on the docks. Members of the Victoria Longshoremen's Association were not there.

Back from a motor trip to Mount Rainier, Ted King will this evening handle Ms. Pacific Shipper on her arrival from the United Kingdom via Seattle. She is bringing passengers and freight and will load some cargo here before proceeding to Vancouver.

Coast travel was heavy over the Labor Day week-end, all ships operating out of Victoria carrying capacity crowds of people. Honors for the largest single passenger list went to Ss. Princess Marguerite on her departure yesterday afternoon for Seattle from Victoria. She had 1,350 persons aboard.

Ss. Princess Victoria yesterday took 906 Victorians on a special cruise to Seattle, returning to the Inner Harbor at 10.30 in the evening.

Ss. Princess Adelaide came here from Vancouver with 800 excursionists, who spent the afternoon in the city.

SEE SMALL CHANCE FOR GREAT POWERS TO STOP JAPANESE

tion until she has completed her armament programme; Britain will adopt Nelson's tactics and turn a blind eye to the Far East until the last moment.

Members thought United States' public opinion, which was highly fluid, might back co-operation with the Soviet Union against Japan.

The weight of the psychological factors, or "state of mind" in connection with the Far Eastern problem was emphasized in the conference's discussions.

"Collective action against Japan would increase the feeling of claustrophobia—the Japanese would feel they were hemmed in," said Dr. Pollard, professor of Oriental History, University of Washington. "We are concerned with an emotional state and if the Japanese are irrational now they would become more so under such circumstances. Japan would be like a man inside walls in the dark and her effort to break through" would become more violent.

"A criminal who is being chased becomes more desperate, but is that an argument against chasing him?" one delegate asked.

The conference examined elements in the building up of a bias against Japan in Canada and the United States. It emphasized the psychological factors, or "state of mind," of Japan.

EFFECT ON JAPAN

"We want to stop Japan without destroying Japan," said Dr. Coleman. "Japan is a useful member of the world society of nations. There is no doubt the World War was stopped because Germany was becoming exhausted. There will come a time of war weariness to Japan and it is for us to determine what will likely be the effect of pressures on Japan as she grows weary."

With Dr. Coleman's estimate that the crisis in the Japan-China war might be reached within six months, General Victor Odium of Vancouver took issue, declaring that as in the case of the Great War, a great military movement could not get going within that time.

"Congress intended the U.S. Neutrality Act should be applied to a situation such as we now have in the Far East," said Mr. Field. "Yet the legislation has not been invoked. The fact is the Neutrality Act was wholly designed with the European situation in mind. Not once mentioned in the discussion in Congress was the situation in the Far East."
